

NATIONAL POLITICS THROTTLES EXPOSE BY EX-KLAN DRAGON

Stephenson Grand Jury Appearance Fails to Bare Scandal.

REED WILL NOT CALL
SENATE COMMITTEE

Convicts Attitude Changes
After Federal Agent's Visit;
Counsel Tells of Checks.

By NORMAN W. BAXTER.
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 13.— Major political forces have done what Indiana politicians were unable to do. The story that D. C.
Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, said that he was going to tell to the world is not to be published yet.

The man who until a few short months ago was acknowledged the power that controlled Indiana State politics and is now a life convict appeared before the Marion county grand jury this afternoon, stayed for a short hour and gave the examining body, according to reliable information, no information of any value.

The prosecution of the inquiry will not be pressed by the Democrats. Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, baited by the statement of Clyde A. Walb, chairman of the Republican central committee, that international bankers sent money into the Indiana primary, will not call his committee into session for an investigation of the charges that have rocked the Hoosier State.

There appears to be no doubt here tonight that a deal has been reached to throttle what gave every indication of being a political expose of the first magnitude. Even after Stephenson's appearance before the grand jury and its disappointing outcome, Floyd Christian, once of counsel for the imprisoned knightman, confirmed a statement issued by Thomas H. Adams, originator of the Stephenson charges, that the former had seen the documentary evidence which Stephenson has in his possession and that it included a $5,000 check made out to Gov. Edward Jackson.

Party Agreement Hinted.
Over and above these developments of the day there rises what appears to be a bipartisan agreement to let the matter rest. Stephenson, of course, can not be made to talk. What he told the grand jury is naturally not revealed, but the statement of the prosecutor, Will H. Remy, is significant.

"His attitude was part of his testimony," said Mr. Remy in referring to the hour that the former grand dragon spent before the inquisitors. Matching this statement with the position that Stephenson took in open court when he refused because of his constitutional rights to testify in a civil suit for fear that he would incriminate himself and you have arrived at as near the answer as it is possible to get.
Tonight Stephenson is on his way back to Michigan City, at the far end of the State, from where he started on his mysterious pilgrimage at an early hour this morning, a day in advance of his scheduled appearance.

G. O. P. Leaders Satisfied.
Republican leaders in Indiana appeared to be satisfied. Their moments of anxiety followed the statement issued by Mr. Walb, for they feared then that the senatorial committee might take a hand in the affair. Democratic strategy ruled otherwise, it is learned. The Democrats are willing to let the Stephenson charges rest where they are now, content to have them simmering under the surface as they have been with an eye to the governmental campaign of 1928.

There remains one factor which may explode the bomb that appears to be thoroughly drenched tonight.
The Federal government is still investigating the sudden injection of Jack Maroney, Department of Justice agent in Indiana, into the case.
The government operative visited Stephenson on Saturday at the State penitentiary. Dating from that moment, the viewpoint of the imprisoned man has changed. Since then he has sent the messages throwing further publicity and disowned the men who were acting for him up to that time. The forces of the national government may yet develop why the change appeared to be coincident with the visit of the Department of Justice agent, which Washington says was not ordered from there.

Certainly since Saturday Stephenson has changed front. First he

MARIE TO STAY ON SHIP UNTIL VESSEL IS DOCKED

Wants to View Skyline of New York Just Like Other Travelers.

QUEEN ENJOYS BUSY DAY

S. S. Leviathan, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Queen Marie of Roumania will pass the Statue of Liberty on the Leviathan, remaining aboard the big ship as it proceeds to its dock, probably Monday afternoon.

"The queen has advised the Roumanian legation at Washington that this is her desire, for she wishes to get the full effect of the skyscrapers on New York's skyline, just like all her subjects who have emigrated to America."

The queen also is of the opinion that the Roumanian societies that will meet her on her arrival can be met more advantageously when the steamer is at its dock. Capt.
Hartley expects this will be about 2 o'clock on the afternoon of October 18.

The Roumanian sovereign finished an active day by attending a moving picture show tonight given for the passengers in the general drawing room. At the queen's request, "Safe Haven," which is a film showing the passing of American sailing vessels, was shown, together with "The Waning Sex," in which Norman Shearer is featured.
Despite the somewhat rough sea,

NEW STAY GRANTED TO HALL DETECTIVE

Extradition Is Halted After Another Court Denies Habeas Corpus.

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—
A stay of the order permitting extradition to New Jersey of Felix Di Martini, private detective wanted in connection with the investigation into the murders of the Rev. Dr.
Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, was granted tonight by Presiding Justice William J. Kelly, of the appellate division of the supreme court.

The stay was granted after the Brooklyn supreme court refused a writ of habeas corpus so that an appeal might be taken. Di Martini's appeal will be heard tomorrow.

Rooms for Berlins At Hotel in Boston

Boston, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).— Reservations for Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin, made by Al Jolson today at the Copely Plaza at about the same time as one by A. S.
Mackey, gave rise to a report that a reconciliation was in prospect between Mrs. Berlin and her father, Clarence H. Mackey, head of the Postal Telegraph Co.

It was not until Mr. Mackey arrived that it was established that he was not the father of the song writer's wife. Additional strength was let to the early report by a statement that a reservation had been made at the Massachusetts General hospital for Mrs. Berlin for the expected birth of a child.

Mussolini Sows and Operates a Reaper

Predappio, Italy, Oct. 13 (By A.
P.).—Premier Mussolini, who has been visiting his birthplace here, today took his place among the farm laborers in the grain fields and piloted a new type of sowing machine. Later he mounted a grainreaping machine, drawn by two huge oxen, and demonstrated considerable skill in operating it.

WASHINGTON DRAWN AS LUCKLESS LOVER BY RUPERT HUGHES

Great Passion of His Life, Says Biographer, Was for Friend's Wife.

SALLY FAIRFAX COY,
BUT A WISE ADVISER

Youthful Military Exploits
Also Unfortunate, Is Writer's Assertion.

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—
George Washington as a young man who was unlucky at cards, love, war and politics is the figure pictured by Rupert Hughes in
"George Washington, the Human Being and the Hero," a new biography put today.

"The father of his country was a swell from his sixteenth year on," says Hughes. "He rode to hounds, learned to love foppery and all the elegancies, became a past master of dancing, gambling, polite drinking and exquisite flirtation."

The loves of Washington form a large part of the volume. "No youth of such after-fame ever took his puppyloves more seriously, or was more inconsistent or more unlucky than George Washington," writes Hughes.

It began, says Hughes, with a girl he romped with at school. By early manhood Washington had loved and lost with consistent regularity. There was the girl known only as "The Lowland Beauty," then came 14-year-old Mary Cary, next followed her sister, Sally Fairfax, wife of his best friend and said to have been the great love of Washington's life, and still later followed an infatuation for Mary Philpps, of York.

Love for Sally Deep.
Washington's love affair with Sally Fairfax was the most serious and longest. She was two years his senior, wife of George William Fairfax, who gave Washington his first opportunity as a surveyor when they went together into the unknown lands of the Shenandoah valley.

Washington was 22 years old and had just returned from his disastrous expedition to the Ohio river, in which he had surrendered Fort Necessity to the French and also was being accused by the French of the "assassination" of a "party of ambassadors," who, Washington claimed, were members of an armed spying expedition.

"If ever a man had need of woman's kindness, Washington needed it now," writes Hughes. "He was disgusted with the world of men.
He had finished with the art military."

"It is no longer questionable that at this time Washington began to yield his heart to the love of his life, who was the wife of his best friend—unless she herself had been his best friend."

"When the infatuation overcame him, how far it carried him, there is no knowing. There is no proof, and no reason to assume, that it

THREE EARTHQUAKES ARE RECORDED HERE

Two Described as Severe; Violent Shock Reported Near Kamchatka.

(By the Associated Press.)
Three earthquakes, two described as "severe," and all estimated at a distance of 4,800 miles from the epicenter, were recorded yesterday on the Georgetown university seismo-graph.

Director Tondorf said the first, which occurred at 1:13 a. m., had been approximately located in the Aleutian islands, and that the other two apparently were in the same territory. The second quake started at 9:28 a. m. and lasted three hours, while the third, the most severe, began at 2:16 p. m. and continued for four hours.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 13 (By A.
P.).—An earthquake of a severity pronounced comparable to that of one that laid Yokohama, Tokyo, and surrounding cities waste in Japan September, 1923, was recorded here at 11:15 this morning. Three shocks recorded here last night and today were believed 2,400 miles away and in the vicinity of Kamchatka. Kamchatka is a peninsula of Asia and is 1,500 miles north of the district afflicted in 1923.

LEGIONNAIRES' VOTE ASSURES 1927 TRIP TO REVISIT FRANCE

On-to-Paris Resolution Passes Convention
Without Debate.

VETERANS TO SAIL
FROM SEVEN PORTS

National Commander Predicts Beneficial Results for Pilgrimage to Graves.

Philadelphia, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).
To Paris in 1927 was the decision made by the American Legion today.
Reaffirming the action taken at the Omaha convention last year, the legionnaires voted to hold the 1927 convention in the French capital from September 19, to September 23, inclusive, and to reconvene in New York on October 18, 1927, to take action on all business brought before it.

A motion by the Montana department to delay the vote on the Paris recommendation 24 hours was overwhelmingly defeated, and then the convention adopted a report of the committee without a word of debate. Some "no's" were heard when the question of adoption were put but they were few and feeble compared with the mighty roar of "yes" that preceded the negative vote.

National Commander John R.
McQuigg, immediately took the floor and addressed the delegates.

"By your affirmative vote" he said, "you have committed the legion to one of the most spectacular, one of the most beneficial events of its history, a pilgrimage to Paris to visit the graves of our fallen heroes. It behooves us to do everything possible to make it one of the most gigantic successes the world has ever seen. No event in recent times has the significance this event will have, internationally and for the legion."

Will Sail From Seven Ports.

The pilgrimage will be known as the "second A. E. F." The legionnaires will sail from seven ports and 28 ships, with the giant Leviathan as the flag ship, are expected to be needed. The sailing ports are Montreal, Boston, New York, Hampton Roads, Charleston, Jacksonville and Galveston or Houston, with New Orleans a port of call.

Among those who addressed the convention today were Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania; Maj. Gen.
Lejeune, of the marine corps; Rear Admiral Conz, of the navy, and K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

Sir Walter H. Cowan, second in command of the British fleet, who is in port on the cruiser Calcutta, was welcomed by the delegates
when he and his staff appeared.
The admiral in a brief speech proudly mentioned the fact that he was a member of the British Legion, which brought cheers from the American legionnaires.

Senator Reed, a member of the legion, in his talk referred to the gas treaty.

Demands Law Enforcement.

"My hat is off to the American Legion for the firm position that it has taken in opposition to that treaty," he said, "and so far as I

FORMER JUSTICE AGENT IS SOUGHT BY POLICE IN SCRIVENER MURDER; MEN, ONCE FRIENDS, HAD QUARRELED

Curious crowds gathered yesterday about the spot where the body of Detective Sgt. Arthur B. Scrivener, killed by an unidentified assailant, was found in an alley near his home, 3123 N street northwest, yesterday morning. Inset left: Miss Helen Barnes Parker, 19-year-old government employee, who was to have become the wife of the detective last night. Inset right: Mr. Scrivener. (Harris & Ewing).

RUSSELL SCOTT IS AGAIN SAVED FROM GALLOWS

Third Stay in 15 Months Is Given to Permit Review of Sanity Hearing.

LITTLE MOVED AT NEWS

Chicago, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).— Forty-eight hours before the time of his execution, and for the third time in fifteen months, the hanging of Russell Scott for the murder of Joseph Maurer in a drug store hold-up was averted today. The State supreme court at Springfield ordered a stay until it can review the proceedings in his last sanity hearing, in which he was found sane after he had passed a year in a State asylum.

The man, who was a vaudeville actor at 20, a corporation head at 30 and a hold-up man at 33, seemed little moved at the news of his new lease on life. So many times he has been jerked from the gallows' ramp back to temporary safety that the methods by which his execution has been four times postponed since 1924 have become largely incomprehensible to him.

He was sentenced to hang at his first trial, but won a new trial and pleaded guilty, only to draw the same sentence again. Fifteen months ago he was reprieved by the governor a few hours before the death march, following receipt of a telegram purporting to be a confession of his brother, Robert, to the crime.

The message was a hoax, but minutes before the new time fixed for execution, Scott won a sanity hearing. He was found insane and sent to an asylum, whence he was returned last summer for a new sanity trial, found sane, and again condemned to the gallows.

Review of the second sanity proceeding by the supreme court will establish whether the lower court followed the proper procedure in

Will Rogers Boosts Longworth's Cause In Ohio Campaign

Special to The Washington Post.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 14.— Centering all prominent political speakers into Ohio, I opened it up here last night in favor of Nick Longworth, the only shorthaired violin player in politics.
We are the first to open the campaign of November, 1928, for position, including house rent and detectives free.

Dempsey and Willis both made big mistake by not fighting each other. If they had fought each other we would have still thought they both were good.

Yours for latest news.
WILL ROGERS.

ARMY PLANE FALLS; 2 OFFICERS DROWNED

Lieuts. Perra and Preston Perish in Waters of Long Island Sound.

Port Jefferson, N. Y., Oct. 13
(By A. P.).—Two pilots in the army air corps lost their lives here late today when their plane fell into Long Island sound. The victims were Henry R. Perra, of Taunton, Mass., and William H. Preston, of Belmont, Mass., both second lieutenants.

The crew of a tugboat reported they heard an explosion and saw the plane make a nose dive into the water. Both pilots were strapped into the cockpit. One was dead when extricated and the other died after a half-hour's attempt at resuscitation.

Observers said the plane had been flying low to avoid low hanging clouds and fog and fell from a height of about 150 feet. The plane, a De Havilland, was returning from Boston airport to Mitchell field.

PAN-EUROPEAN UNION ON DEBTS RUMORED

Geneva Tribune Says Nations
Will Join to Negotiate With United States.

Geneva, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).— Interest has been created in political circles by a statement printed in the Geneva Tribune that important personages representing almost all the countries of Europe and including eleven foreign ministers are actively supporting a movement to create a pan-European union.

The Tribune asserts that the chief reason for such a union is recognition that the principal obstacle to the economic and financial reconstruction of Europe is Europe's debt to the United States and the conviction that it would be better to treat with the United States in combination rather than separately. Hence, Europe desires to form an association to defend its common interests in the future.

Byng Made Viscount, London Reports Say

Toronto, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).— an unofficial but authoritative source that Baron Byng of Vimy, former governor general of Canada, has been created a viscount.

SCHOOLGIRL'S KNICKERS BASIS OF COURT PLEA

Mother of 9-Year-Old Asks Mandamus So Child Can Attend Class.

REJECTED TWICE DAILY

Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 13 (By
A. P.).—The question of whether 9-year-old Virginia Allen can attend school wearing knickers has now been placed in the hands of law, and its first hearing will come up Saturday before Judge James Fortune.

Mrs. Fahy Allen, mother of Virginia, who has been barred from public schools here for three weeks because she wore knickers, filed suit in the Clark county circuit court today asking for a mandamus requiring the school authorities of Port Fulton, near here, to allow Virginia to attend school. The suit comes as a climax to a three weeks' struggle between the mother and school authorities, during which time she sent her child to school twice each day, only to have her turned away.

The petition makes no mention of the knickers, but states that the child is being deprived of her right to public school education.

The petition makes the superintendent of education, board of trustees, principal of the school and the girl's teacher defendants in the action. It points out there is no school law prescribing children's clothing and also no law against females wearing male clothing, unless for criminal disguise. It also states that high school girls wear bloomers in gymnasium classes.

Mrs. Allen when she sent Virginia to school in knickers said it was to have been only temporarily until she could make her some other clothing. Now she intends to fight the case on "principle." She has received letters from many parts of the country commending her stand.

Genoa, Nebr., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).
When several high school girls here complained that the assembly room was chilly, school board members investigated and then posted a ruling that hereafter girls from the sixth grade up must wear skirts long enough to cover their knees, walking or sitting, or be expelled.

All obeyed the decree except Hazel O'Bryan, 16, whose relatives resolved with her to wear short skirts "if we have to fight it out all winter."
Speculation was rife today as to the outcome of Miss O'Bryan's case.

Six Still at Large After Jail Delivery

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 13 (By A.
P.).—Seven of the thirteen escaped convicts who made their way to freedom through an underground passage from the Tennessee State penitentiary here last night had been recaptured this morning, prison authorities told the Associated Press.
The prisoners made their way through a hole which had been dug in the rear of the cell of John Rezensky, who was convicted of the murder of May Goodwin, Memphis underworld character. They were led in the delivery by W. A.
Craig, sentenced from Memphis for murder.

Indorsement at Bank Had Been Withdrawn by Detective.

FIVE MEN ARE HELD;
NECKTIE CLEW FAILS

Slain Man Went to Meet His Assailant by Appointment, Authorities Hear.

TAXI MAN IS QUESTIONED
ABOUT M'LEAN, VA., FARE

Elks to Conduct Funeral Tonight; Post Offers $1,000 Reward for Conviction.

Police last night were seeking a former Department of Justice agent for questioning in connection with the murder of Detective Sergeant Arthur B. Scrivener, who was shot and killed in an alley near his home, 3123 N street northwest, shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning.
Coincident with this development
The Washington Post offered $1,000 reward for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer.
The former agent and Scrivener, once friends, broke relations after Scrivener is said to have learned that the man was not worthy of his friendship. A bitter quarrel ensued with the former agent accusing Scrivener of blackguarding him.

Investigation last night established the fact that Scrivener, believing the former agent to be a man of character, introduced him to the president of a local banking concern.
The former agent opened an account, making a large deposit.

Indorsement Withdrawn.
Subsequently something happened, it is said, that caused Scrivener to lose confidence in his erstwhile friend. Scrivener went to the president of the bank and withdrew his indorsement. Then followed the quarrel between the two. These events all took place recently.

Detectives yesterday were unable to locate the former agent, but they were certain that he was in Washington three days ago.

The entire force of headquarters detectives worked tirelessly yesterday and last night running down leads. The only tangible clues—the murderer's necktie, which was found clasped in Scrivener's hand, and the .38-caliber pistol which the slayer left in his flight—thus far have been of little assistance to the investigators.

Five persons were arrested for interrogation in connection with the case yesterday, but detectives attached little importance to their stories.

Taxi Driver Questioned.

Last night William H. Stribling, a taxicab driver, of 2006 I street northwest, was questioned concerning a fare he picked up in an alley between the blocks of Thirtieth, Thirty-first, P and Q streets northwest, a short distance from where Scrivener was shot. The reason detectives were interested is because Stribling said he discharged his passenger at McLean, Va. McLean is the home of Miss Helen Barnes Parker, 19-year-old government employee, who was to have become Scrivener's bride last night.

Stribling was questioned by Inspector Pratt, chief of detectives, and Detective Sergts. Edward Kelley and Thomas Sweeney. He said the man who engaged his cab at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, had a cut on his right cheek, near his ear, and cuts on his wrists. He wore gray trousers and a blue coat.

Charles Cumming, 25 years old, of 1332 B street southeast, was arrested early this morning by Lieut.
Marks, of the Ninth precinct, and held for investigation. He is said to have been "talking indiscreetly" about the case.

New Story Told Police.
That Detective Scrivener went out of his way to meet the man who shot him was indicated late last night.

A new story of the events immediately preceding the murder was told police by Joseph Brannan, a neighbor of the murdered detective, residing at 3121 N street northwest.
Accompanied by his sister, Miss Ethel Brannan, Mr. Brannan was returning to his home from an entertainment and dance at the Par-

TEST OF DIPLOMATS' ABILITIES TO DRIVE MOTOR CARS ASKED

Commissioners Write to Kellogg for Status Same as Residents.

PRIVATE EXAMINATION WOULD BE PROVIDED

Permits Could Be Issued Upon Certification of State Department.

An effort to cause members of the diplomatic corps and their staffs to submit, as residents of the District of Columbia, to an examination of their ability to drive and familiarity with traffic regulations was made yesterday by the commissioners.

In a letter to Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg calling his attention to the killing of a motorist in a recent traffic accident by a car driven by Mrs. Abdullah Elwan, wife of an attaché of the Persian legation, the suggestion was made that the assistant director of traffic give such examinations privately, the permits to be issued without fee upon certification by the Secretary of State. The letter said: "All residents of the District of Columbia are required to have permits to operate motor vehicles within the District, and before such permit is issued evidence must be produced before the director of traffic that the prospective operator is qualified to operate a car with safety to himself and to the public."

It would seem to the commissioners that it would be highly advisable that all members of the diplomatic corps and their staffs who desire to operate motor vehicles in the District of Columbia should qualify for the purpose by passing the necessary examination on the traffic regulations and by demonstrating their ability to drive. "In order that this examination may be conducted without annoyance or embarrassment, arrangements could be made by the director of traffic so that all members of the diplomatic corps and their staffs could be given a private examination by an assistant director of traffic."

"The permits to operate can be issued to accredited representatives of foreign countries upon certification from the State Department of their diplomatic status."

21 West Point Places for Guard. Appointments as West Point cadets in 1927 are available to 32 enlisted men of the national guard, the War Department announced yesterday. Appointments are open to enlisted men of the national guard between the ages of 19 and 25 years who have had at least one year's service in a Federally recognized unit.

Daughter of Noted Family Now Directs Nurses Here

Miss Janet Fish, Whose Grandfather Was Secretary of State for Grant, in Charge at Emergency.

Took Part in World War With Representative, Whose Sister She Is. Comes From Newport.

Miss Janet Fish, granddaughter of the late Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State in the cabinet of President Grant, and a sister of Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, has taken up her duties as superintendent of nurses at Emergency hospital.

She is a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of New York. The family dates back to Gov. Peter Stuyvesant, first governor of New York. Her father, Hamilton Fish, Jr., preceded her brother in Congress and before that presided over the New York assembly.

The hospital's executive committee sought far and wide recently to find someone to take the capable place of Miss Mae E. Reynolds, who resigned. This and that applicant was turned over in the committee's collective mind and then it prevailed upon Miss Fish to leave her hospital superintendency at Newport and take the place.

For several years her brother has been the representative of New York aristocracy in the House, and although a regular Republican, there have been times when the old guard leaders have shaken their heads apprehensively at his independent thought, while those of the silk stockinged class would whisper that he was a radical.

Thoughts of radicalism also ran through the minds of New York's four hundred back in 1915, when Miss Fish took up war nursing in France. It was the stirring of real pioneer blood, the same vein which brought the old governor to settle in New York. For in those early war days women were still much attached to the home.

There was another motivating influence. Her sister's husband, the gallant Lieut. Lawrence Broese, who, although an American, had taken up the fight with the British forces and had paid the supreme sacrifice for doing so. Miss Janet Fish first gave as the reason for her visit to Paris the desire to be with her bereaved sister. Subsequently, New York society heard that she had come to the conclusion that one should not stay abroad Paris and do nothing, and that she had gone in for nursing.

She was far from a full-fledged nurse at the time; in fact, what she did not know about it would probably fill a book. But she joined the army of heroic French women who were willing to go out and learn. Glimpses of her flickered back to

Joe Jamieson, Post Staff Photographer. MISS JANET FISH.

New York from time to time and meantime many of her social associates were following in her steps. There came the word of her finishing the course and going off to the front, and then of sharing in the horrors of the conflict.

First, she was in this hospital and then in that, most of the time under enemy fire—and the fire of an enemy that did not know a hospital from any other building. She went about her work of fixing up war-mangled men to the accompaniment of falling bombs. At times the firing became so heavy that it was necessary to evacuate with the maimed and the sick. It was a grim, determined business—this patching and plastering up of gun-torn men—but one which Miss Fish came early to know.

It was a far cry from the teas and dances and other pleasures of Bar Harbor and Newport, but that blood which has coursed her kin from the time of the governor, and even further back, gave her the necessary fortitude.

Finally, her brother, the representative, went over with the 369th Infantry of American troops. His service got him a croix de guerre. Perhaps he saw his sister over there, and perhaps he didn't. At any rate there was more than four years of the strife for her, and at the end of it she had acquired a new outlook on life.

She had come to know a life of service and she had come to a decision that she did not want to leave it. Thus it was that upon her return to New York she entered Presbyterian hospital for a nursing course. Four years in France, under conditions which the world had never known before, had not quite made of her the finished product. Of the business of healing the wounds of men, of putting them together often from just so many parts, she knew a lot.

But of nursing women and children—her rather intensive course in France had not embraced this. Of this she learned in the three years at the New York Presbyterian hospital, and then she returned to France for tubercular work. She passed eight months in a French dispensary, and upon returning to New York she became superintendent of nurses at St. Mark's hospital. Here she remained for 20 months, when she went in the same capacity to the Newport hospital. It was from there that she came to Emergency.

"It will be nice here," she said, "because I shall be near my brother." Miss Fish has no quarrel with society, nor faults to find with it. She simply found the rendering of service in France so "interesting" that she does not want to quit. There is, so much more happiness when the mind is occupied—there is always something worth while to look forward to, something to anticipate.

Often times the work at Emergency hospital is reminiscent of the days in France, Miss Fish says. Men have a way of going out and getting so bungled up, and there are multiple hazards that send the women to the institution in the ambulance.

CONCLUSION OF SOLDIER SHOOTING CASE IN SIGHT

Justice Department Is Still Silent; to Report Findings Tomorrow.

STREET PREACHER FREED

Following the statement of Port Myer authorities that their investigation of the shooting of Private Edgar Miller, whose body was found more than a week ago in Arlington cemetery, was virtually complete, awaiting only a report from Department of Justice operatives tomorrow before they announce their findings to the post commander, indications pointed yesterday to an early conclusion of the case.

Earle V. Betty, street evangelist, arrested Sunday when he professed to have knowledge of the shooting, has been released by the investigators, who attach little significance to his testimony. He attributed his release yesterday to prayers and special services held for him at the Gospel Mission, Miss Marion Ethel Gray, who was with Ernest Johnson when he was shot in the leg Monday night near where Miller's body was found, still is being held.

A report of the autopsy on Miller's body made public yesterday, stated definitely that the fatal bullet had entered his head through the forehead, passing out through the skull, instead of taking the reverse course as was at first suggested. This and other evidence uncovered during the investigation render suicide not unlikely as a solution.

The bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice yesterday kept unbroken the silence that has characterized its inquiry. Yesterday the department again declined to intimate whether the case collected by justice agents pointed to suicide or murder, expressing, however, the opinion that a definite conclusion would be reached tomorrow.

INTERSTATE CITIZENS' MEETING SATURDAY

Will Be Second Session of Delegates From City, Virginia and Maryland.

A call for the second meeting of representatives of the citizens' associations of the District and the federations of nearby Maryland and Virginia counties to plan an "organized citizenship" movement, was issued yesterday by Jesse C. Suter, president of the Federation of Citizens' associations. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the District building.

Appointment of George A. Rickert, of the Kalamazoo Citizens' association, as an additional member of the federation's directing committee also was announced by Suter.

Attendance at the meeting is expected to double that at the first meeting.

$125,000 Damages Demanded in Suit

The Washington Railway & Electric Co., was sued yesterday in circuit court for a total of $125,000 by Albert L. Erwin and John R. Etcher, both of 326 B street southeast. Through Attorneys Leeman and Dean the plaintiffs says that on May 21 an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a street car at Fifth and East Capitol streets, seriously injuring both. Erwin asks $100,000 and Etcher asks $25,000 damages.

MOVE MADE TO GUARD CHEVY CHASE CHILDREN

Northbound Car Stop in Connecticut Avenue Changed to Far Side.

ORDERS FOR BUSES ALSO

Steps to promote the safety of children and relieve congestion in the morning traffic rush in the vicinity of the E. V. Brown public school in Chevy Chase, were taken by the public utilities commission yesterday on recommendation of Lieut. Jeremiah Sullivan, of the Fourteenth precinct police station.

The northbound street car stop in Connecticut avenue, at McKinley street, was ordered changed from a far side to a near side stop, and an additional northbound near side stop was ordered installed at Northampton street. The bus stop at the latter corner was ordered changed similarly.

The Brown school is in Connecticut avenue between the two streets, and Lieut. Sullivan said, in his recommendation, that 900 children cross the streets from three to five times daily. There is a traffic patrolman there, and when he stops cars at the near side of either street, they must stop again at the far side to take on or let off passengers. When the change is effected they will have to stop only once.

The commission considered the application of the Washington Rapid Transit Co. for permission to convert the basement of the car barn of the Capital Traction Co., at Fourteenth and Decatur streets northwest, into a garage and lease it for five years. Decision was held in abeyance until the place could be visited by Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell, engineer commissioner, and Maj. W. E. R. Covell, his assistant.

A. F. L. LAUDS LABOR RECORD OF AL SMITH IN SPECIAL REPORT

Convention Denounces as Untrue Charge Former Measure Repudiated Governor.

DISCOUNTANCE EFFORT TO DISCREDIT CANDIDATE

Policies for Forthcoming Year Outlined as Three Cities Vie for 1927 Meeting.

Detroit, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—An emphatic denial that the American Federation of Labor professed antipathy to the presidential aspirations of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York was made today in the annual convention of the federation.

The committee on resolutions, having obtained permission to inaugurate a special order of business, presented a supplemental report on the resolution presented last week which urged the convention to endorse Gov. Smith for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The original report of the committee, presented Monday, recommended withholding action on the resolution because the country was not now in a presidential campaign.

Reports reached the committee that the convention's action Monday was "contrived by many newspapers as a repudiation of Gov. Smith by the federation."

"This is most emphatically untrue," said today's supplemental report, which was unanimously approved by the convention.

"Your committee submits the foregoing report so that attempted misrepresentation of its former report, in an effort to injure Gov. Smith politically may be discounted and refuted." The text of today's report follows:

"Notwithstanding the explanation of the committee report made by its secretary some newspapers persist in the assertion that this convention negated the reputed aspirations of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, for presidential preference."

"This is most emphatically untrue. It is a fact, well known to labor that during all of the political activity of Gov. Smith, both as a member of his party and while holding public office, he has been active in support of protective measures for the toilers."

"This has been notably true as to amendments to the labor law and to the tariff."

the compensation law of New York State. He has, as governor of his State, repeatedly appointed men to office who were recommended by labor.

In his present candidacy for reelection as governor he has the support of the New York State federation of labor and of labor, both organized and unorganized, as was set forth in the report of this committee.

"It is not a departure from our nonpartisan policy to make the assertion that Gov. Smith has been one of the foremost supporters of the doctrine that labor should have the first consideration and that it is incumbent on legislative bodies to surround labor in its employment with adequate safeguards against accident and disease, and to fairly compensate the toiler when injured in that employment."

"Your committee submits the foregoing so that any attempted misrepresentation of its former report in an effort to injure Gov. Smith politically may be discounted and refuted."

The convention outlined today policies for the forthcoming year on local plant labor organizations, antitrust laws, injunction processes in labor disputes, labor banking and insurance, and worker participation in industry through stock ownership.

Cities Seek 1927 Meet.
Disposal of these major questions, virtually cleared the convention calendar of important business, paving the way for possible adjournment after the election of officers and the selection of next year's convention city. Birmingham, Ala., Long Beach, Calif., and St. Petersburg, Fla., are under consideration by a special committee.

The convention's plan to resist inroads into the ranks of federation through the local plant unions authorized a special assessment of all affiliated organizations for the conduct of the campaign.

Under the constitution, the executive council may, under the authority of the convention, raise as much as $200,000 by special assessments in any fiscal year.

The resolutions committee's report, depicting abuses of the injunction process in certain localities, which were not specifically indicated, developed debate on the en-

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.). A charge of destroyed records was made today in the Morse mail-fraud trial involving three steamship companies capitalized at $90,000,000 and seventeen defendants.

Special Assistant Attorney General Fletcher Dobyns, opening the case for the government, told the jury that at the direction of Charles W. Morse, certain transactions were written off and a stock value of $1,000,000 was shown as $12,500,000 after which the old books were hidden or destroyed by Harry F. and Benjamin W. Morse, sons of Charles W. Morse, and a new set of books opened.

These two sons of the financier Morse, who was pardoned by President Taft after serving part of a fifteen-year sentence for misapplication of national bank funds, a third son, Edwin A. Morse, and fourteen other defendants are charged with using the mails to defraud. The acts alleged were committed in 1919. They were indicted in 1922. Charles W. Morse died in 1922.

The question of the powers of the Federal courts.

John P. Fray, president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor, directed the attention of the convention to the fact that President Coolidge two years ago had issued a pardon to one Phillip Grossman, of Chicago, before Grossman had presented himself to begin serving his sentence.

A Gain of 932,189 In One Year

Never have progress and preference been summed up so dramatically.

Never have prosperity and opportunity been indicated so clearly.

The first figure, 6,636,060, is the total circulation of The Saturday Evening Post, The Ladies' Home Journal, and The Country Gentleman. The second, 932,189, is last year's gain.

Both figures are significant to business men—

they represent voluntary buying—full paid in advance, no arrears, no installments, no clubbing, no premiums, nor any other form of price cutting—

they are an index of sales possibilities in any given territory for any kind of merchandise.

That is why so many concerns use Curtis circulation figures to build sales quotas for all territories, and the periodicals themselves to build business.

The gain alone tells the story of natural market expansion; the total, the story of economical market coverage.

WEALTHY FORMER PERSIAN CONSUL FALLS TO DEATH

H. H. Topakyan Plunges Out 17th Floor Window of Yale Club, New York.

GAVE $50,000 RUG TO U. S.

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.). H. H. Topakyan, former Imperial Persian consul general, was instantly killed today in a fall from a window on the seventeenth floor of the Yale club across the street from the Grand Central station.

Police were inclined to believe the fall was accidental. Persons in the street who saw the body come hurtling through the air said two small brief cases preceded it and police believed the case fell from a window sill and Topakyan lost his balance in attempting to recover them.

The window from which he fell was in the hallway of the club building and adjoining a room occupied by F. Dudley Kohler, an attorney with whom he had an appointment. The attorney was not there when Topakyan arrived and the consul general believed to have been waiting him in the hallway. No one could be found who saw him immediately before the fatal plunge.

Topakyan was about 60 years old. He was appointed consul general in New York in 1909 and for many years had been a prominent business man in this city. He was Persian commissioner and director of the Persian and Ottoman exhibits at the world's fair in Chicago in 1893, and Persian commissioner general at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

In 1908 he presented a silk jeweled Persian rug to President Roosevelt, which was valued at $50,000, and was said to have been one of the most costly gifts given to the nation by an individual. Mr. Topakyan was honored by President Taft with an autographed photograph and among his effects found a letter from President Wilson thanking him for the gift of a specimen of turquoise from his Western mines.

Citizens of Park View Like Old School Hours

Adopting resolutions opposing a change in school hours, and endorsing the work of student patrols in directing traffic near the schools, the Park View Citizens association held its first meeting of the season last night in the Park View school.

Other action taken by the group included adoption of resolutions requesting that parking rights be withdrawn in front of the Park View school, on Warder street, between Newton and Otis streets and opposing creation of a filling station at Park road and Georgia avenue.

Associated Charities Helped 6,104 in Year

During the year ended October 1, 1,413 families were cared for by the Associated Charities, it was reported at a meeting of the board of managers yesterday at headquarters, 1022 Eleventh street northwest.

The number of individuals receiving help was 6,104, of whom 3,470 were children less than 16 years old.

The report of work done last year disclosed that not only a larger number of persons had received relief, but that more money for materials such as food, clothing, rent and fuel, had been $10,238 more than the preceding year.

Mrs. Archibald Hopkins was elected to the board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of her husband.

Coolidge Humor Told At Women's Meeting

"There are some people who have a deep sense of humor, but who laugh very little. President Coolidge is one of them," John H. Bartlett, First Assistant Postmaster General, and formerly governor of New Hampshire, told the meeting of the professional and business women's section of the Woman's City club held last night in the club building at 24 Jackson place.

The club was entertained by jokes, humorous stories, and sketches of old New England characters, which had been collected. Among the jokes told, many were purported to have come from things said by the President.

SCRIVENER'S FATHER AND KIN

Turner A. Scrivener, 64-year-old father of Detective Sgt. Arthur B. Scrivener, killed early yesterday, and Dale Baker, brother-in-law of the murdered detective. They came to Washington yesterday from their home in Winchester, Va.

They were questioned at the Seventh precinct station. Precinct Detective Dennis Murphy said they admitted to him they had deserted the army.

They were held following a story they told of seeing a blue automobile, of the roadster type, speeding up Wisconsin avenue, away from N street. One man was driving and another was on the running board, they said.

What is believed to have been the same automobile and men were seen by police passing the Fourteenth precinct station at a speed estimated at nearly 60 miles an hour.

Police Issue Call. Later in the day police broadcast a call for the apprehension of the occupants of the automobile, under the heading, "Important," in large black type, the notice reading:

"Two white men in blue body roadster—may be a Buick, top down, tan or khaki cover. Wanted by detective bureau in connection with the murder of Detective Sgt. Scrivener, Oct. 12."

Police captains were instructed to throw out a dragnet for every suspicious character in the city. They were ordered to give special attention to poolrooms, lunch rooms, especially those open all night, "where bootleggers and gamblers and the like congregate and to keep close surveillance over known habitual frequenters of such places, and wherever such persons can not give a good account of themselves, they shall be arrested and held for investigation." Later they were ordered to search for the automobile.

Tony Novak, 39 years old, who said he came to Washington from Cumberland, Md., was arrested at Twenty-first street and Pennsylvania avenue, northward, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning and taken to the Third police precinct station house for questioning.

He was taken in custody by United States Park Policemen Croissant and Jenkins because they said he could give no satisfactory account of his presence in the locality at that time, or explain just where he had been in the few hours immediately preceding.

Lawrence Smith, colored, 28 years old, 1520 Swann street northwest, was taken to the Eighth police precinct station and held for questioning by Policeman McDonald.

Thought Known to Scrivener. But police insisted that the person who shot and killed their brother officer was known to him, Scrivener, they declared, was too smart a policeman and too quick and too strong to be taken as completely by surprise as he must have been by the shot that killed him.

He was killed by a 38-caliber bullet fired from a pistol found at his feet. Only one shot was fired from the pistol. It had evidently been placed close against his left side when the bullet was fired. Examination of his clothing showed powder burns on the left lapel of his overcoat. The bullet, it was shown by a autopsy performed by Dr. Joseph D. Rodgers, assisted by Dr. Herbert Martin, deputy coroners, traveled diagonally through both lungs and heart. It was found under the right shoulder blade.

Dr. J. Ramsay Nevitt, coroner, said he was convinced that Scrivener had not had time to grapple with his murderer before he died. Some police officials had suggested that possibly the slain man had held of his assailant's necktie, inasmuch as it was wrapped about his hand, and was in the act of brushing the pistol aside when he was killed.

The detective was a strong, quick man, trained to defend himself and his grab for the necktie he held in his death was almost involuntary, and it was the death grasp which pulled the tie in two from the murderer's neck.

The tie is a four-in-hand, of crepe, blueish gray, with colored dots. It probably cost around $1.50. It has no mark of identification on it. It is still tied, and was torn in two in the middle of the Nevitt.

That the murder was committed by a person who contemplated an improper use of the murder pistol police are convinced. The identification numbers in the barrel, on the hammer and on the butt were recently filed off.

The finger marks found on the pistol are useless, police said, in checking for prints on the fingers to identify the murderer. Only the lines of the sides of the fingers show on the gun. The records are of the ends.

In an effort, however, to trace the gun through its factory numbers, police turned it over to experts of the bureau of standards.

Secretary Baker conceded to Pullman's request, with the result that the detective was honorably discharged eight hours after he had enlisted. A day later, Scrivener's outfit left for France.

Howard S. Fink, a member of the George Washington post, could not believe that Scrivener was dead. The printing firm with which Fink connected had engraved the invitations for the detective's wedding.

Republican Victories Predicted by Winston

Impressive Republican victories in the Congressional elections this year and at the next presidential contest were predicted yesterday by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winston upon his return from a speaking tour, which carried him as far west as Los Angeles, Calif.

"Never did I observe such marked and spontaneous acclamation of the administration's policies, as I did on the trip just completed," he said. "Furthermore, the manifestations of popularity represented every walk of life and despite the ballyhoo raised to befog the issues, the people seem to believe that prosperity, as sponsored by the Republican party, is the vital factor. Their acknowledgment of this fact will certainly result in an overwhelming victory for the Republican party."

Use of Party Names Faces Illinois Test

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Attorney General Oscar Cartmorton today advised Secretary of State Emerson to call upon Hugh S. McGill, independent Republican, and James H. Kirby, of Petersburg, independent Democratic candidate for United States senator, to answer formal objections made against their candidacy.

"Any one of the objections, if true, should be sufficient to set aside their candidacies," the attorney general said. The objections were made by William M. Holderby, of Chicago, who recently contended that the use of "Republican" by Kirby was unlawful, and their petitions did not contain a sufficient number of names.

SECRET MESSAGES BY RADIO CLAIMED

San Pedro, Calif., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Development of a radio system for naval communication which eliminates the danger of enemy interception of signals and which may have value in commercial work was announced here today by Maj. Francis E. Pierce, radio officer of the United States marine corps.

Tests have demonstrated, the marine officer said, that a device invented by him is capable of transmitting radio signals in such a manner that they can be ricocheted over intervening spaces between the sender and the receiver. In a test of the southern California coast, a ship transmitted radio signals to a sister ship while a vessel which steamed between the two was unable to pick up a signal.

Discovery of the ricocheting or "bent" wave was made while Pierce was making short-wave tests.

HARVEY SELLS NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW

Walter Butler Mahoney, New York Editor, to Take Over Magazine in December.

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Sale of the North American Review to Walter Butler Mahoney, New York lawyer and writer on economics, was announced today by George Harvey, former ambassador to the court of St. James.

"I have felt for some time," said Mr. Harvey, announcing the sale, "that this venerable periodical is fairly entitled to its conductor's undivided attention which I could not give without abandoning or neglecting certain historical and biographical work which I have undertaken."

Mr. Mahoney will take over the periodical with its December issue. Mr. Harvey, who had been its editor for 25 years, will continue as an occasional contributor.

The new owner is the brother-in-law of Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university.

News of the murder of Scrivener was literally a shock to the entire city. He was one of the most widely known and popular detectives of the headquarters staff. Tuesday night he attended boxing matches at Kenilworth, accompanied by Detectives Edward Kelly and Thomas Sweeney, returning to headquarters shortly before midnight.

They were confined to a few personal friends that he was to marry Miss Parker, secretary to the chief clerk of the United States railroad administration, at 7 o'clock last night.

The ceremony was to have been performed by the Rev. Dr. Earle Willey, pastor of the Vermont Avenue Christian church. The approaching wedding had been a closely-guarded secret from some of his most intimate friends. One of those Scrivener told of his coming wedding was a reporter. On the same piece of paper that the reporter had made notes of the wedding he made notes less than two hours later of the murder of his friend.

Flancon Is Prostrated. Miss Parker and several other close friends were prostrated by the murder. Miss Markey, to whom Scrivener was said to have been engaged some time ago prior to his meeting Miss Parker immediately went to the murdered man's home to express her sorrow when she learned of his death. Scrivener had lived at the Georgetown address, where Mrs. Matthew J. Walsh conducted a rooming house, for the last twelve years.

Direction of the hunt for his slayer yesterday was taken over personally by Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, and Inspector Henry G. Pratt, chief of detective bureau, and Maj. Hesse, with the approval of the district commissioner, offered a reward of $300 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer.

Turner A. Scrivener, his 65-year-old father, accompanied by his son-in-law, Dale Baker, arrived in Washington early yesterday afternoon to take charge of his son's body. Mrs. Emma B. Scrivener, the slain man's mother, who is 58 years old, has been in too poor health for months to stand the strain of the journey here. Garner F. Scrivener, a brother, a detective sergeant in Akron, Ohio, arrived later in the night and two other brothers, Lohr and Walter, of Halloway, Va., and Clearwater, Va., are expected here tomorrow.

Elks' Services Tonight. The body of the dead detective sergeant will be removed from the Martin Hyung Co. funeral parlors at Thirteenth and N streets northwest this morning at 11 o'clock, to 3123 N street northwest.

The local lodge of Elks, of which the detective was a member, will conduct the funeral services tonight at 7 o'clock at the Georgetown address. The body will remain here until tomorrow morning, according to the latest funeral arrangements, when it will either be shipped to his old home, Dale Winchester, Va., or taken there by a funeral automobile.

Honorary pallbearers from the police department will accompany the body of the dead man home. Others will represent the Gold Medal club of the department, made up of officers who have been awarded gold medals for distinguished bravery, and the Elks.

Police Inspector William S. Shelby, secretary of the Washington Elks, will head the representatives of that order at the funeral and will deliver a eulogy. The coroner's jury was sworn in yesterday, and after viewing the body released it so that the funeral arrangements could be made by the family. The jury is to meet again at call of the coroner whenever police succeed in their effort to unravel the mystery of the detective's shooting.

Veterans at Philadelphia Mourn Scrivener's Death

Special to The Washington Post. Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—News of the murder of Headquarters Detective Arthur Scrivener threw a pall over the District of Columbia veterans attending the American Legion convention here.

It seemed that almost all of the Washington legionnaires knew the detective. This evening they were gathered in little groups discussing his deeds and his personality.

Scrivener was a member of the Vincent B. Costello post, although he had served only eight hours in the army. Shortly after the United States entered the war he resigned from the detective bureau and enlisted in the army engineers at Washington barracks. He asked that he be sent overseas immediately.

The late Raymond Pullman, then superintendent of police, went to the Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker, and asked him to discharge Scrivener. He told Baker that Scrivener was more valuable as a

Details of Death of D. P. Davis Are Not Given in Brief Radio Message.

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Tampa today mourned the loss of D. P. Davis, creator of Davis islands and one of the most prominent real estate developers in the history of the city, who was drowned while sailing Europe aboard the steamer Majestic, of the White Star line.

Details of Mr. Davis' death are lacking. The first report of it was received in a radiogram to Arthur W. Milam, vice president of the D. P. Davis organization, who is also speaker of the house of representatives in the Florida legislature.

The telegram stated: "Davis was lost overboard early this morning. Ship circled over an hour. Everything possible done. No hope. Advice family." The signers were Raymond Schindler and F. W. Montayne, employees of the Davis organization, who were accompanying Mr. Davis on his trip to Europe.

detective in Washington than he could be as a soldier.

Secretary Baker conceded to Pullman's request, with the result that the detective was honorably discharged eight hours after he had enlisted. A day later, Scrivener's outfit left for France.

Howard S. Fink, a member of the George Washington post, could not believe that Scrivener was dead. The printing firm with which Fink connected had engraved the invitations for the detective's wedding.

Republican Victories Predicted by Winston

Impressive Republican victories in the Congressional elections this year and at the next presidential contest were predicted yesterday by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winston upon his return from a speaking tour, which carried him as far west as Los Angeles, Calif.

"Never did I observe such marked and spontaneous acclamation of the administration's policies, as I did on the trip just completed," he said. "Furthermore, the manifestations of popularity represented every walk of life and despite the ballyhoo raised to befog the issues, the people seem to believe that prosperity, as sponsored by the Republican party, is the vital factor. Their acknowledgment of this fact will certainly result in an overwhelming victory for the Republican party."

Altrock and Judge Are Taken Into Elks

"Nick" Altrock and "Joe" Judge became brother Elks last night when, with thirteen other initiates, they were taken in as members of Washington lodge, No. 15, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The initiation, held in the clubhouse, 519 H street northwest, was attended by several hundred Elks.

The other initiates were Fred W. Berger, Robert G. Carpenter, Matthew J. Chambers, Serrington W. Hurrell, George E. Jackson, Raleigh Le Preux, Charles J. Mensman, Prospero Miraglia, John G. Stoffer, L. A. Tish, M. L. Lamm, Brian Emerson, S. McConas Hawken and Charles C. Estes.

Use of Party Names Faces Illinois Test

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Attorney General Oscar Cartmorton today advised Secretary of State Emerson to call upon Hugh S. McGill, independent Republican, and James H. Kirby, of Petersburg, independent Democratic candidate for United States senator, to answer formal objections made against their candidacy.

"Any one of the objections, if true, should be sufficient to set aside their candidacies," the attorney general said. The objections were made by William M. Holderby, of Chicago, who recently contended that the use of "Republican" by Kirby was unlawful, and their petitions did not contain a sufficient number of names.

SECRET MESSAGES BY RADIO CLAIMED

San Pedro, Calif., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Development of a radio system for naval communication which eliminates the danger of enemy interception of signals and which may have value in commercial work was announced here today by Maj. Francis E. Pierce, radio officer of the United States marine corps.

Tests have demonstrated, the marine officer said, that a device invented by him is capable of transmitting radio signals in such a manner that they can be ricocheted over intervening spaces between the sender and the receiver. In a test of the southern California coast, a ship transmitted radio signals to a sister ship while a vessel which steamed between the two was unable to pick up a signal.

Discovery of the ricocheting or "bent" wave was made while Pierce was making short-wave tests.

MILLIONS BEHIND SCHEME TO END NEW YORK SLUMS

August Hecksher Submits to Mayor Plan to Rebuild Tenement District.

RENTALS ON INCOME BASIS

New York, Oct. 13.—From out the dingy squalor of New York city's slum, with its washing-draped fire escapes, its littered and push-crowded East Side streets and the rows upon rows of unattractive tenements, would rise a city in itself where roominess and cleanliness and airiness would combine for happiness if the plans August Hecksher, multimillionaire philanthropist submitted to Mayor Walker today become a reality.

The noted realtor and builder, under his project, would raise the tenements and erect in their place model apartment buildings, this to be accomplished by the financial cooperation of the city and State and a number of wealthy persons, and to include donation of nearly $100,000,000 to be made by himself.

The idea was first submitted to Mayor Walker on Hecksher's return recently from Europe, where he was "special emissary" for the mayor to study European housing conditions.

Families, according to the plan presented today, would be given space in accordance with the number of their members. And rentals would be based upon the income of the respective families. The building program would be financed, Hecksher said, by at least 500 citizens who are willing to donate a total of $100,000 a year for five years to cover the construction costs. Scores of nationally noted architects have signified their willingness to donate time to work out details of the plans, Hecksher reported.

Michigan Park Seeks Walk and Extension

Resolutions requesting a substantial sidewalk along Michigan avenue in the vicinity of the Bunker Hill school, and petitioning the park and planning commission to revert to its original proposition of an extension from Fifteenth street northeast to the District line, were adopted last night by the Michigan Park Citizens association, meeting at 4200 Thirteenth street northeast.

J. T. Reeside, secretary of the organization, was made chairman of a committee to press the latter question with the planning commission. Announcement was made that the association's application changing Bunker Hill school from a colored to a white institution had been granted. The public utilities commission was asked to compel the street railways company to remove poles on Twelfth street northeast, from Otis to Monroe streets.

Russian Recognition Not Involved in Parley

The American policy of nonrecognition of Russia is in no way involved in the acceptance of Japan's request to hold a conference between the United States, Russia, Great Britain and Japan on the modification of the fur seal treaty between these four governments. Secretary of State Kellogg indicated yesterday.

The request of Japan for the conference, it was said, is now under consideration by the State Department, which is studying the whole question of fisheries and treaties covering their control and protection. It was pointed out that the mere fact that Russia is called into a conference in which the United States participated would not imply any recognition of the soviet regime.

Bible "Carrie Nation" Ruins Darwin Books

Kansas City, Kans., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—A fundamentalist "Carrie Nation" has risen in Kansas.

A week ago librarians in the public library here discovered that two copies of Darwin's "The Descent of Man" had been torn from cover to cover, and daily since then one or more books pertaining to evolution have been mutilated.

To show his contempt for the authors of these works the vandal has scribbled quotations from the Bible on the fly pages of the books.

Now, Mrs. Bertha McMan, librarian, is threatening to close the nonfiction shelves and allow entrance to them only when the hunter after knowledge is accompanied by a guard.

Pullman Car Porter No Longer "George"

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—The traditional "George" of the Pullman car service vanished today under order of L. S. Hunterford, an executive of the Pullman company.

Under a new ruling, the name of every porter in charge of a car will be displayed prominently.

RIVER FRONT TERMED IDEAL MARKET SITE

Eldridge and Mrs. H. W. Wiley Point Out Benefits to the Southwest Group.

Indorsing the waterfront as an "ideal" site for the new Center market from the standpoint of traffic, economy and better food, Director of Traffic M. O. Eldridge and Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley last night spoke before the Southwest Washington Business Men's association in the Capital Yacht club.

Eldridge characterized selection of any uptown site as "jumping from the frying pan into the fire." "It would take longer to find parking space uptown than it would to reach the Southwest location," he said. The traffic director outlined the streets through which the motorist could reach the waterfront market, avoiding congested areas.

Mrs. Wiley explained that she previously had advocated the mid-city site until, as a member of a Kalorama Citizens association committee, she investigated the matter. This investigation, she said, convinced her the Southwest location was more practical from the standpoint of transportation, cold storage facilities and economy. She spoke, she said, "as a housewife."

COURT REJECTS BILL TO GUARD SIOUX EDEN

Chief Justice McCoy Dismisses Complaint Filed by Yankton Tribe of Indians.

The injunction bill filed by Raymond T. Bonnin and his wife, Gertrude Bonnin, on behalf of themselves and the Yankton tribe of Sioux Indians, against Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, and Charles H. Burke, commissioner of Indian affairs, to prevent alleged desecration of the "Garden of Eden" of the Indians, the famous Pipestone quarries in Minnesota, was dismissed yesterday by Chief Justice McCoy in equity court. The motion to dismiss was based on the contention that the Court of Claims had acquired jurisdiction of the Indians' claim to the quarries.

The opening scenes of Longfellow's poem, "Hiawatha," are laid in these quarries. They are held sacred because of the superstition that the Great Spirit once wandered through them dropping blood from the buffaloes which he was devouring and turned the rocks red.

According to the injunction bill the Federal government on April 19, 1853, entered into a treaty with the Sioux Indians by which the latter were granted perpetual right to the quarries. The plaintiffs charged that since had been taken from the quarries under authority of the government for construction purposes.

Price Control Backed By Electric Counsel

(By the Associated Press.) Manufacturers of patented articles have the right to control sale prices, counsel for the General Electric and Westinghouse companies argued yesterday before the Supreme Court in a case appealed by the government charging them with violation of the Sherman antitrust law.

The government insisted the General Electric Co., after agreeing in 1911 to a decree under which it would not fix prices at which jobbers and retailers must sell its electric lamps, had adopted the present plan of converting the jobbers and retailers into agents to accomplish the same purpose.

SUPREME COURT RULES DAYLIGHT SAVING LEGAL

No Jurisdiction, Says Taft, Dismissing Fight on Massachusetts Regulation.

CAME HERE ON APPEAL

Daylight saving laws like those of Massachusetts present no interference with Federal rights and raise no questions over which Federal courts have jurisdiction, the Supreme court ruled yesterday in dismissing a case appealed by the Massachusetts Grange, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and others.

The announcement made by Chief Justice Taft followed an argument by counsel for the appellants, who contended the Massachusetts law was unconstitutional because it deprived persons of property without compensation and otherwise was obnoxious. The appellants held the statute had caused a depreciation of $20,000,000 in farm values in the State, had caused the changing of railroad schedules to the annoyance and confusion of every one and had imposed new burdens on the people by changing school hours.

Members of the court developed by questions that no penalties were carried by the law and expressed inability to see where any hardships were imposed.

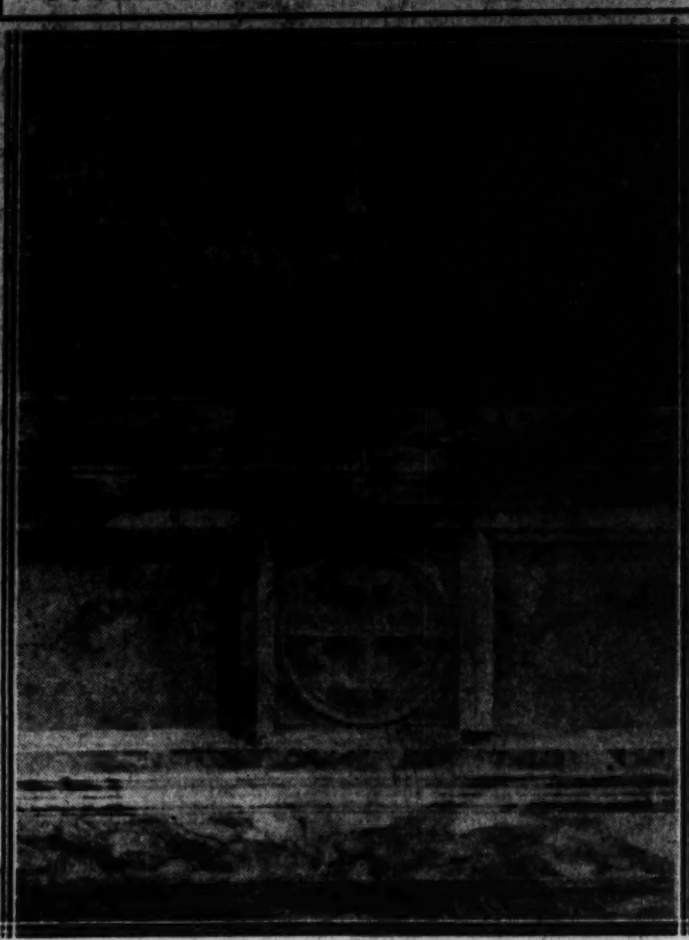

Counsel for the appellants insisted the Federal government, having by act of Congress established standard time, occupied the field to the exclusion of the States, but Chief Justice Taft stated the court would follow the lower court in dismissing the proceedings for want of jurisdiction. It was brought out in argument that Federal standard time was controlling in all interstate matters over which the Federal government had jurisdiction and in all Federal government affairs, but beyond that the court could see no Federal control over the fixing of time.

War Gas Kills Moths And Rats in U.S. Depot

The chemical warfare service was called on recently to exterminate moths from the army's Jeffersonville, Ind., storehouse for cloth, felt, sheep skins and blankets.

Gas of sodium cyanide and sodium chlorate killed the moths, and rats as well. This gas does not injure fabric, leather, woodwork or household utensils. It tarnishes brass and nickel but does not injure silver.

COOLIDGE'S HONOR SON'S MEMORY

On behalf of herself and the President, Mrs. Coolidge yesterday presented the gold cross shown above to the new $300,000 chapel at Mercersburg (Pa.) academy. It was given in memory of their son, Calvin, Jr., who attended the academy before his death. The chapel was the gift of 4,000 alumni and friends as a memorial to the 1,700 boys of Mercersburg who took part in the war.

German Pillager Returns Ham Loot

Hann. France, Oct. 13 (By A. P.). A troubled conscience has forced a German soldier to make restitution after twelve years for a wrong committed during the war. From Altona, Prussia, the mayor of Ham has received a huge bundle containing silverware which the soldier declares he stole from a house in Ham when the town was pillaged in 1914. He expressed regret, and he said he hoped the mayor would restore the property.

The mayor is having a hard time of it, for the German could not recall the exact location of the house.

N. & W. Surgeons Conclude Convention

Members of the Association of Surgeons of the Norfolk & Western Railroad completed yesterday a two-day convention here by electing officers for the coming year and selecting Atlantic City as the place for the 1927 annual meeting. Dr. W. P. Drury, of Norfolk, Va., was named president and Dr. T. D. Armistead, of Roanoke, secretary. Vice presidents elected were Dr. Wade H. St. Claire, of Bluefield, and Dr. J. M. Shackelford, of Martinsburg, W. Va. Washington hospitals were visited during the afternoon by members of the association.

Home Efficiency Service

Your dressing, dandling, gadding, where's the good of it? Sweet lady, tell me, can you make a pudding?"

We have heard much of late about the advantage of putting an aspirin into the water in which cut flowers are placed. A reader has written regarding the matter, asking whether or not in our opinion this is worth while. And I can not say, for sometimes it has seemed to help the flowers that I have experimented on at my home, and sometimes they have seemed to drop more quickly as if in spite. But there is an old remedy for preserving cut flowers of which I heard a number of years ago and that I do not hesitate to pass on in the hope that it may be of value to those of us who persist in fresh flowers regardless of the season. Place a bit of either saltwater or baking soda in the flower water and each day change the water, cutting a very little bit from the stems each time. Do not move the flowers about to put them in a cool place at night, for they are almost sure to drop when they are again brought into the heated atmosphere of the room that they are intended to grace.

And since we are on the subject of flowers it will not be amiss at this time to take up the subject, although briefly, of a table decoration for the winter months. We can not but know that a table is robbed of its charm when it is robbed of a centerpiece. The least bit of green will do, but it must be there if we wish for even a semblance of homeliness. What then is to take the place of the cut flowers with which our garden has kept us so bountifully supplied? A table fern to be sure. They are to be had and I am not confusing this with our shopping column at almost any of the flower stands in the market for a very small sum. They may be placed either in a temporary covering for the crock of paper which is to be changed frequently, or into a permanent bowl designed for the purpose. Very soon we shall, on a shopping expedition, search out such bowls. For the present let it suffice that we keep a weather eye out for attractive ferns for the table.

Another green that is attractive is the one of which we spoke recently in the shopping column—Wandering Jew. This can be broken back and therefore made thicker and thicker in the bowl as the branches lengthen. The water must be changed rather frequently to supply the material for growth. Plant "pills" may be added to the water with decided success as the leaves will flourish upon the nourishment.

There are a number of new dishes on the menu for today that we have planned. It is again Thursday, and therefore fish as well as meat day for our plan.

Nancy Goes A-Shopping

There seems of late to be a decided leaning toward the brasses, and as an ornament of utility there can be nothing of greater charm than a bit of brass here and there about the house. In this last shopping tour we found a delightful assortment of brasses at a nearby shop. The thing that particularly attracted our attention at the outset was a set of cast, solid brass trays. There were designs cut in these trays, which were small ones, and they came in three sizes priced at 50c, 75c and $1. They may be used in the larger sizes for card trays or even service trays, and in the smaller sizes for the indispensable stand tray or even an ash tray. They are, we assure you, well worth seeing.

We need not explain the value of a living room that has, as all living rooms, invariably have, a group of books conveniently placed, and brass book ends, light but also cast of solid brass, are to be had. These are an exceptional buy at $1 a pair and will surely add to the group of books that now lie on the end-table.

Letters begin to come to the shopper asking for suggestions and places where this and that may be found. We promised on this day to have found a "small, colorful something to go over a small, colonial chest of drawers in a small colonial dining room." We have discovered the exact thing, and at a very reasonable figure. Little square pictures, alive with color in the deep, rich tones known to colonial days, and also colonial in that the subjects of these pictures are quaint bowls of gracefully arranged flowers. Bowls of roses, of sweetpeas, of fringed asters. Deep and of gorgeous colors—these are distinguished from other bowls of flowers in that they are oils, or to be quite honest, so splendid a reproduction that we were unable to tell the difference. The frames, square, are plain, as they should be, and the price is $1.50. There are but five in stock, so it must be a matter of first come, first served.

1st - - for 9 consecutive Years

For the ninth consecutive year Buick has won first choice of space at the National Automobile Shows.

This is Leadership! For this honor goes annually to the member of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce with the year's largest volume of business.

Chance plays no part in this award. It is conferred upon the car which has found the most favor among the buyers of America—the car in which they have invested a plurality of their dollars.

It has gone to Buick every year since 1918 because Buick has built better motor cars, and continually put back the savings of increased volume and engineering development into still greater value.

Nine continuous years of leadership! For any other car to equal this would mean retaining continuous leadership until 1936—almost another decade.

The industrial history of America records no more brilliant achievement than these nine successive years of Buick dominance.

LEGION COMMITTEE URGES NEW ARMORY FOR DISTRICT GUARD

Group Also Indorses Resolution Advocating Military Training in Schools.

CAPITAL LACKS VOTES, SO IT SPOKE UP FOR IT

Special to The Washington Post. Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—The military affairs committee of the American Legion today unanimously indorses the proposal to build a new armory for the national guard of the District of Columbia. The matter was brought up before the committee by Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, commander of the District of Columbia department of the American Legion. The military affairs committee also indorses a resolution advocating military training in the schools and assailing those opposed to such training. This resolution also was submitted by Gen. Fries.

Both this resolution and the one urging an armory will be reported to the full convention tomorrow. The committee explained the reason it had approved the armory was because of the voteless condition of the District. No other city, it was said, would receive such consideration. The drum and bugle corps of the Costello post, of Washington, was one of the seven prize-winning corps picked by a board of judges in Tuesday's parade. It was scheduled to take part in an elimination contest today, but due to a misunderstanding as to the time, it failed to appear.

Ninotch May Head Yugoslav Cabinet

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—The Yugoslav cabinet, under Premier Cusnovitch, resigned today. The foreign minister, Dr. Ninotch, may be the new premier. The resignation is understood to be due to indiscreet statements made by the minister of education, Stefan Raditch, on the occasion of the visit of a group of Czechoslovakian deputies to Zagreb. King Alexander is said to have summoned former Premier Pachitch from Dalmatia for a conference.

Arms Importations Under Ban in Mexico

Mexico City, Oct. 13 (By A. P.). To prevent arms and ammunition from reaching bandits, revolutionists and anti-government elements, President Calles today issued a decree forbidding the importation of rifles, pistols and cartridges. Customs officials at the ports and border points were ordered to enforce the order strictly. Supplementing these efforts to prevent trouble makers from obtaining firearms, the federal soldiers continue their campaign of the extermination of bandits.

The police, who detected two intruders, chased them. The blaze was easily extinguished. The embassy believes the incendiaries were discharged workmen.

know there is not a former service man in the Senate who will not fight that treaty to the very last ditch."

The senator spoke for law enforcement. "If we legionnaires will only demand that the policing of our towns and our States shall be in the hands of such men as were company commanders and first sergeants in our army in France," he said, "and not in fat, elderly gentlemen who hold the jobs only for the pay they get, we are going to get decent enforcement of the laws against the crimes of violence."

"The present disorder throughout the United States is a disgrace to our nation, and our legion can, if it will, make itself the greatest vigilance committee that the world has ever seen."

"The American Legion has a very special place in the memories of all citizens," he wrote, "because it calls to mind a great national emergency and the splendid response of our citizenry in manifold service."

"The lasting lesson of that terrible experience is to my mind the necessity of considering all our problems with the belief that a solution can be found through the combined wisdom, experience and good will of all concerned."

Employment Service Sought.

The rehabilitation committee of the legion today submitted a long list of recommendations all of which were adopted without discussion by the national convention.

Among them was a resolution advocating the organization of an employment service in the United States veterans' bureau to place in proper employment rehabilitated trainees of the bureau.

Another resolution urged equitable salaries for employees of the veterans' bureau and another sought to impress on the veterans' bureau that no undue economy be permitted to effect decisions in cases of disabled veterans.

Other recommendations adopted included: Establishment of a United States veterans' bureau hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and one in Kentucky, as provided for in a bill in the House of Representatives.

Provisions for 200 additional beds at bureau hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio; 450 additional beds at Fort Snelling, Minn., and 100 additional beds at American Lake, Wash.

Construction of a hospital in Nebraska. Construction of a three-unit hospital for neuropsychiatrics in Northern Ohio.

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1.) naming court officials to examine Scott and in refusing a change of venue after they had called him sane. If the lower court is found to have proceeded properly, a new date will be set for the hanging. If it is reversed, a new sanity hearing must follow.

Before becoming a holdup man, Scott headed a Canadian corporation which contemplated erection of a $20,000,000 bridge from Detroit to Windsor, Ontario.

Memoryless Veteran To Face Legionnaires

Special to The Washington Post. Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—Who is "Jerry Tarbot?" The gained, bayoneted and shell-shocked veteran who goes under that name will again try to establish his identity today. He will be placed on a platform and 10,000 American legionnaires will be asked to look him over and see if he is one of their war-time buddies.

Tarbot was given that name when he woke up in an insane asylum at Stockton, Calif., three years ago with his mind a blank. Since that time he had been trying in vain to establish his identity. The veterans' bureau, the Red Cross and the American Legion have all tried to help him. He will be introduced to the assembly tomorrow by Watson B. Miller, of Washington, D. C.

19 INDICTED AS MEMBERS OF $2,000,000 RUM RING

Two Chicago Clubmen on List of Defendants Following $1,200,000 Seizure.

JURY CALLS ON GOVERNOR

New York, Oct. 13. (By A. P.) Nineteen men have been indicted in Federal court as members of a rum smuggling ring, rivaling that headed by William V. Dwyer, now under sentence to serve a term in Atlanta penitentiary.

Two men from Chicago, described as prominent clubmen, a third from New Jersey and a fourth from Rhode Island, were among those indicted. Simultaneous with the making public of the indictments today, it was learned that a sealed presentment, returned by the same jury, had been forwarded to Gov. Moore, of New Jersey. It is alleged that part of a liquor cargo valued at $2,000,000 was unloaded at Edgewater.

The indictments, charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition act, grew out of the capture in the Hudson river last April of the steamship Eker, aboard which prohibition agents found the biggest cargo of liquor ever seized at this port. The liquor found aboard the ship was valued at $1,800,000. The Chicago men indicted were Cecil Kinder and Clifford Kinder, who, together with a third man indicted, D. Turner, were represented as chief owners of the Eker. Another indicted was Shasta R. Smith, owner of the Edgewater. N. J. repair yard, where the Eker is alleged to have unloaded some of its cargo. A man described only as "Red" Reynolds, of Providence, R. I., represented as the man who made shipping arrangements for the Kinder, was the fourth man indicted.

Brewster, millionaire motion picture magazine publisher, today admitted that he will attempt to secure a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Brewster, in the state of Sinaloa, Mexico. Brewster said that he and his fiancée, Corliss Palmer, beauty contest winner, and a woman companion, have just returned from a trip to Sinaloa, where, he revealed, he has established residence.

The publisher declared he is confident that his divorce will be granted and that it will be recognized in any State but New York. Brewster said he and Miss Palmer will be married immediately after the divorce is granted.

RHODE ISLAND G. O. P. FOR DRY REFERENDUM

Platform Plank Would Re-submit 18th Amendment to Vote of People.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 13 (By A. P.)—Resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the people, was favored in a plank incorporated by the Republican party of Rhode Island in the platform adopted at the biennial convention here today. The plank placed the party on record as favoring strict enforcement of the prohibition law until a settlement of the question is reached. The platform reaffirmed the party's stand in favor of a protective tariff, condemned free trade, and reaffirmed the party's support of the Coolidge administration. Gov. Aram J. Pothier was nominated for governor by the party for the sixth time.

10 G. O. P. SENATORS DECLARED SEEKING TO DEFEAT STEINWART

Aid Stanfield, Despite Appeal of Phipps and Dineen That He Withdraw.

PLACE COURTESY OVER LOYALTY, IS CHARGED

Group Supports Independent Candidate on Committee Chairmanships.

An element of disturbance to Republican councils akin to the support of Senator Norris, of Nebraska, for W. B. Wilson in the Pennsylvania senatorial race, has developed in the independent candidacy of Senator Stanfield, of Oregon.

Senator Phipps, chairman of the Republican senatorial committee, and Senator Dineen, its secretary, have sought to get him to withdraw from the race, but other Republican senators, some of them candidates for reelection themselves, have gone to Senator Stanfield's support. By so doing they are giving their aid to defeat Frederick Steinwart, the Republican nominee.

Both Senators Phipps and Dineen have told Senator Stanfield that if his candidacy were to be successful he would hardly be an independent, but able to retain his committee places, but first, they have sought to impress him with the improbability of his election.

Ten Senators Mentioned.

Republican senators who are being charged with permitting senatorial courtesy to take precedence over party loyalty and with helping to injure the Republican nominee, include Senators Oddie, of Nevada; Williams, of Missouri; Harrell, of Oklahoma; Cameron, of Arizona; Bingham, of Connecticut; and Willis, of Ohio, all candidates for reelection; Lenroot, of Wisconsin, who lost in his primary, and Goff, of West Virginia; McLean, of Connecticut, and Green, of Vermont.

In their behalf it is urged that they have acted without full knowledge of the situation in Oregon. High in party and administration councils though most of them are, they are being criticized severely by those in authority.

Ostensibly the aid they have given to Stanfield is solely to assist their colleague. The result of that aid, however, it is asserted by party managers, is to assure the election of B. E. Haney, the Democratic senatorial candidate. Haney is a former member of the United States Shipping Board, who won prominence last year by openly defying President Coolidge.

In the Republican primary in Oregon, Stanfield was defeated for renomination, receiving 29,447 votes as against 40,063 cast for Steinwart, whose supporters allege that Steinwart is more nearly in harmony with Coolidge policies than Stanfield has been. Stanfield was one of the organizers of the farm bloc in the Senate.

Cites Committee Posts.

Stanfield, following his defeat in the primary and his announcement of his independent candidacy, advanced as a chief argument for reelection his assertion that no new senator could get such powerful committee assignments as he now holds, and which, he said, he would retain, if elected. He is chairman of the committee on public lands and surveys, a position much coveted by Westerners; is second-ranking member on the civil service committee, third on claims committee, fourth on the committee on postoffice and post roads and on the committee on the judiciary.

Senator Harrell, of Oklahoma, telegraphed: "I see no reason why you should lose your committee assignments as a Republican if re-elected on any ticket."

Senator Green, of Vermont, said: "I see no reason why your election as independent/Republican should affect your committee standing in any way as long as you adhere to Republican principles."

Senator Lenroot said Stanfield's status would be the same in the Senate as if he had received the Republican nomination at the primary.

Senator Goff said much the same, adding: "I believe you should be re-elected."

Senator Cameron telegraphed: "As I understand precedence, you will not be removed from committee, if elected, so long as you qualify as a Republican."

Senator McLean said: "I can see no reason for your displacement if you are elected," and his colleague, Senator Bingham, telegraphed virtually the same.

Senator Willis wired: "One of our Ohio papers contained the statement that if you were elected you probably would lose your committee places. Of course, you and I know that under the practice which follows in the Senate and, the fact that you are recognized as a Republican, you would hold your committee assignments unless there should be a change in the political control of the Senate. Of course, if the Democrats should happen to win the Senate, then all of us would lose our committee chairmanships."

STEPHENSON SILENT; POLITICS INTIMATED

told Thomas Miller, for some time apparently his sole counsel, that he had been supplanted by John H. Kiplinger, one of the attorneys who served Stephenson during his trial for murder. Then came his trip here, which it appears to have been proven conclusively yielded no new material, and now the conviction in Indianapolis at least, that before long Stephenson will be a free man.

Admittedly the situation in Indianapolis is complicated by the fact that the Indiana capital is overrun by persons who profess to have first-hand information as to the part that Stephenson played in State politics during the time when he first brought the Klan to its greatest strength and then by his own actions wrecked it.

There has never been such a whispering gallery as this city. Correspondents of out of town papers assembled here are offered the opportunity to obtain from a half a dozen sources exclusive and questionable information as to the part that Stephenson played in the affairs of the State.

Chief Actors Remain Silent.

The chief actors alone remain silent. Stephenson, on leaving the courthouse for the jail, where he was quartered temporarily, flung a cryptic aside.

"What shrivelled souls there must be to take such advantage of a man's misfortune," he said. The phrase may be interpreted in any one of a dozen different ways. It was understood in one quarter to be directed at those whom Stephenson had used prior to his visit to Maroney, but may have been aimed at the newspapermen and spectators who watched the progress of the former Klan leader under heavy guard from the grand jury room to the quarters which substituted this afternoon for the palatial residence that he maintained here once.

Two years ago, to the month, it was developed at the civil trial in which Stephenson refused to testify today the Klan leader was worth approximately $1,000,000.

Unless Adams or some of those associated with Stephenson choose to make further revelations it appeared tonight as if the matter must rest. The best lead was the statement made by Christian which tended to prove the existence of the documentary evidence said to have been in Stephenson's possession.

Tells of $5,000 Check.

In the former attorney for the convicted klansmen said that he had visited Stephenson while the latter was in jail at Nashville and that the document which was said to have been in Stephenson's possession was a check for $5,000.

BORAH AND EDWARDS DENOUNCE DAWES' ATTACK ON PRIMARY

System Guarantees to Expose Large Spending, Idaho Senator Declares.

CHARGE PROPAGANDA
TO ABOLISH METHOD

Johnson Says Illegitimate Spenders Are Opposing Direct Elections.

(By Associated Press.)

Vice President Dawes' advocacy of the abolishment of the primary system, in his speech before the American Legion, was assailed yesterday by both Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey. At the same time, without mentioning Mr. Dawes' address, Senator Johnson, Republican, California, issued a statement charging that nation-wide propaganda was being conducted to break down the primary system.

"The idea of the people who want the repeal of the primary seems to be to make corruption of people in office safe," Senator Borah declared. "The primary is a guarantee of an expose of the use of large funds, whereas in the old days they used enormous sums and nobody knew it."

Senator Edwards asserted that if the primary is abolished, as advocated by the Vice President, "Vandalism and Smithism will be raised to the nth degree in every State of the Union." He declared the primary system was just as perfect as any system of government, which is not infallible.

"Must Be Own Doctor."

"The wanton primary corruption uncovered by the Reed committee in Pennsylvania and Illinois is both a preventable and a curable disease," the New Jersey senator added. "The people themselves must be their own physician and legislator and the only medicine they need is their votes."

Senator Johnson said "It is a remarkable thing and an astounding condition that every individual who spends money illegitimately in a direct primary, every individual who profits by the illegitimate expenditure of such money, and every individual who belongs to a faction which seeks to spend money illegitimately, is in full cry against the direct primary today."

The California senator said he did not mean by this, however, that the direct primary was not opposed by many who were entirely sincere in their views.

Credit for Debt Fund Claimed by Democrats

The Democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson, and not the subsequent Republican administrations, is entitled to credit for the cumulative sinking fund law under which $1,740,552,550 already has been paid on the public debt due to the world war, the Democratic national committee contended yesterday in its latest pre-Congressional elections statement.

"The Republicans in speeches and other publicity try to make it out that they are entitled to all credit for payments on the debt," the statement said, adding that the law was "enacted by a Democratic Congress and signed by President Wilson on March 3, 1919. Carter Glass, now senator from Virginia, being then Secretary of the Treasury."

MARIE WILL REMAIN UNTIL LINER DOCKS

Prince Nicholas was able to partake of a hearty dinner, although several members of the royal party did not fare so well. Marie wore a flame-colored crepe gown this evening, shading from purple skirt to pink bodice, and sable wrap. Several strands of pearls and pearl ear-rings were her ornaments. Princess Ileana wore pink.

The queen was up early this morning to take full advantage of her first day at sea. She took a morning plunge in the ship's bathing pool with her daughter, Princess Ileana, and then returned to her suite wearing her bath cap and robe. After a hasty toilet she appeared on the promenade deck.

The queen was dressed in a beige suit and hat and wore a leopard-skin coat thrown over her shoulders. Accompanied by Princess Ileana and Prince Hohenlohe, she made half a dozen turns about the deck.

The Leviathan today was plowing through a somewhat choppy sea, but the hugeness of the vessel prevented the queen and her suite from suffering any ill effects.

Although the queen has cruised the Mediterranean and about the British Isles, this is her first long ocean voyage. At first she was somewhat doubtful about how the Atlantic would affect her, but she now feels assured that she and Princess Ileana are good cross-Atlantic sailors.

The sun was shining brilliantly and the queen enjoyed the day on the sheltered decks of the Leviathan despite a stiff wind that was blowing.

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Mayor James J. Walker today announced the appointment of Mrs. Vincent Astor as his special envoy to Queen Marie of Roumania during her visit in this city. The queen and her party are due to arrive here on the Leviathan next Monday.

WASHINGTON DRAWN AS A LUCKLESS LOVER

went beyond wretched courtship on his part, and teasing yet tyrannical evasion on hers. But that it went that far is mere obstinacy to deny.

Tragedy of Tragedies.

"Sally Fairfax can not be ignored in Washington's life story. She ought not to be. She deserves the honor of having a profound influence on the formation of his character. She stirred his heart more deeply than any other woman ever did. It was the tragedy of all his tragedies that in a youth crowded with brave deeds that came to naught, and desperate endeavors that brought only defeat, his wandering heart should finally have settled upon the woman who had been his familiar counselor for years, and whom he could not make his own because she belonged to his best friend, and would not, or could not, give her life to him."

Other chapters are devoted to Washington's marriage, at 26, to Martha Custis, the wealthy young widow; the "Centinel X" attack on Washington's Virginian troops as "dastardly debauchees," the "Jumonville affair," when the French accused Washington of the "assassination" of an ambassadorial party; Braddock's campaign, in which Mr. Hughes asserts that, contrary to general belief, Braddock took Washington's advice and was neither surprised nor ambushed, but lost because of the strategy of a Frenchman and the stampede of his own men.

Hughes, in an "afterword," says the purpose of the volume is "to find out as far as possible and to report as faithfully as possible just what George Washington was, did, said, wrote, thought and why and how."

"The insurance business generally, in Ohio, Illinois and Michigan is moving along at a rapid pace," said Norman E. Ellsworth, superintendent of agents of the Acacia Mutual Life association, who returned from an inspection trip in these States yesterday, pointing out that the volume of business being written by the Acacia is steadily on the increase.

"Broader interest in life insurance as a whole is noticeable through the middle West," Mr. Ellsworth asserted, "and the widespread prosperity in that section has resulted in drawing the attention of many to the benefits of insurance as a savings medium."

This was only 1,487 cars below the highest record for all time for any one week, which was established the week ended on September 18 of the current year, when the total was 1,187,011 cars, according to report yesterday by the American Railway association.

Compared with the corresponding week last year, the total for the week of October 2 was an increase of 72,341 cars and compared with the week ended September 25. This was also the nineteenth week this year that loadings have been in excess of 1,000,000 cars.

Comparisons with the previous week developed increases in the loading of coal, coke, forest products and merchandise and less than carload freight, while decreases resulted in the loading of grain and grain products, live stock, ore and miscellaneous freight.

Local Market Brief.

Following the Columbus day respite trading on the Washington Stock Exchange was resumed yesterday with considerably more vigor than usually obtains on the day after a holiday, and but little of the list was overlooked when bidding began.

Columbia Title Insurance was the market leader from standpoint of volume of turnover with 300 shares changing hands in two lots at 9 1/2 and causing many to speculate on the more or less recent interest in Title Insurance shares.

Federal-American National Bank, though traded in to the extent of only 10 shares, gained 3 points to 313, while Commercial National Bank on a single sale of 30 shares picked up 4 points with the sale recorded at 230. Merchants Transfer & Storage preferred sold in three lots at par, and Mergenthaler Linotype was firm at 10 1/2.

Bidding on the utilities failed to bring offerings on other than Potomac Electric Power preferred, which opened at 107 1/2 and closed at 107 1/2, and Washington Railway & Electric preferred, which changed at previous level of 90 1/2.

In the bond division City & Suburban 5s advanced to 88. Washington Gas Light 6s in the larger denominations sold at 103, while Washington Railway & Electric 4s again sold at 83. Wardman Park Hotel 5 1/2s sold at 98 1/2.

Insurance Good in West.

"The insurance business generally, in Ohio, Illinois and Michigan is moving along at a rapid pace," said Norman E. WALL STREET GOSSIP

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—James W. Post, president of the National Sugar Refining Co., expressed the opinion today that raw sugar prices would work above the 3-cent level in the near future. Cuban crop conditions appeared to be well in hand and many would be surprised, he asserted, when final figures on the carry-over for this year were made known. More sugar was being consumed throughout the world at present than ever before, he said.

Amoskeag Manufacturing Co. has reopened the large Coolidge mill and production will be speeded up to fill gingham and towel orders, it is reported from Manchester, N. H. Day and night operating forces in the worsted section have been increased.

John Thompson Dorrance has been elected a director of the Pennsylvania railroad, succeeding the late Bayard Henry.

Wall streets hears Montgomery Ward Co., through purchases of rubber at low price levels, has eliminated paper losses which at one time this year approximated $500,000. When the price of rubber eased off, the company is said to have averaged its inventory cost by additional purchases, thereby wiping off the paper loss.

Resumption of dividends on the common stock of Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation at 6 1/2 cents a share quarterly is reported from Baltimore to be scheduled for discussion at the directors' meeting on October 21. The last dividend paid on the common was $1 on August 1, 1923.

Private dispatches from Akron to Wall street indicate substantial gains in earnings for the B. F.

Group Also Indorses Resolution Advocating Military Training in Schools.

Costello Drum and Bugle Corps a Prize Winner in Parade.

Special to The Washington Post. Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—The military affairs committee of the American Legion today unanimously indorses the proposal to build a new armory for the national guard of the District of Columbia. The matter was brought up before the committee by Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, commander of the District of Columbia department of the American Legion. The military affairs committee also indorses a resolution advocating military training in the schools and assailing those opposed to such training. This resolution also was submitted by Gen. Fries.

Both this resolution and the one urging an armory will be reported to the full convention tomorrow. The committee explained the reason it had approved the armory was because of the voteless condition of the District. No other city, it was said, would receive such consideration.

The drum and bugle corps of the Costello post, of Washington, was one of the seven prize-winning corps picked by a board of judges in Tuesday's parade. It was scheduled to take part in an elimination contest today, but due to a misunderstanding as to the time, it failed to appear.

Ninitch May Head Yugoslav Cabinet

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—The Yugoslav cabinet, under Premier Cuzounovitch, resigned today. The foreign minister, Dr. Ninitch, may be the new premier.

The resignation is understood to be due to indiscreet statements made by the minister of education, Stefan Raditch, on the occasion of the visit of a group of Czechoslovakian deputies to Zagreb. King Alexander is said to have summoned former Premier Pachitch from Dalmatia for a conference.

Arms Importations Under Ban in Mexico

Mexico City, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—To prevent arms and ammunition from reaching bandits, revolutionists and antigovernment elements, President Calles today issued a decree forbidding the importation of rifles, pistols and cartridges. Customs officials at the ports and border points were ordered to enforce the order strictly. Supplementing these efforts to prevent trouble makers from obtaining firearms, the federal soldiers continue their campaign of the extermination of bandits.

know there is not a former service man in the Senate who will not fight that treaty to the very last ditch."

The senator spoke for law enforcement. "If two legionnaires will only demand that the policing of our towns and our States shall be in the hands of such men as were company commanders and first sergeants in our army in France," he said, "and not in fat elderly gentlemen who hold the jobs only for the pay they get we are going to get decent enforcement of the laws against the crimes of violence."

"The present disorder throughout the United States is a disgrace to our nation, and our legion can, if it will, make itself the greatest vigilance committee that the world has ever seen."

Need at the present time of an all-pervading faith in the essential honesty of men was stressed in a message sent today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to the convention.

"The American Legion has a very special place in the memories of all citizens, he wrote, because it calls to mind a great national emergency and the splendid response of our citizenry in manifold service."

"The lasting lesson of that terrible experience is to my mind the necessity of considering all our problems with the belief that a solution can be found through the combined wisdom, experience and good will of all concerned."

Employment Service Sought.

The rehabilitation committee of the legion today submitted a long list of recommendations all of which were adopted without discussion by the national convention. Among them was a resolution advocating the organization of an employment service in the United States veterans' bureau to place in proper employment rehabilitated trainees of the bureau.

Another resolution urged equitable salaries for employees of the veterans' bureau and another sought to impress on the veterans' bureau that no undue economy be permitted to effect decisions in cases of disabled veterans.

Continuation of the use of the Roosevelt American Legion hospital in Michigan, under contract of the United States veterans' bureau, was recommended and adopted.

Construction of necessary buildings at the Veterans' hospital, North Chicago, Ill., at a cost of $500,000, was recommended, as was the purchase of the hospital at Kansas City, Mo., now leased by the veterans' bureau.

Establishment of a farm colony and sun porch at North Little Rock, Ark., was recommended at a cost of approximately $150,000.

Other recommendations adopted included:

Establishment of a United States veterans' bureau hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and one in Kentucky, as provided for in a bill in the House of Representatives.

Erection of quarters for the personnel at the Edward Hines, Jr., Memorial hospital, Maywood, Ill., at an approximate cost of $1,500,000, in order to give more room for beds.

Provisions for 200 additional beds at bureau hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio; 450 additional beds at Fort Snelling, Minn., and 100 additional beds at American Lake, Wash.

Construction of a hospital in Nebraska. Construction of a three-unit hospital for neuropsychiatrics in Northern Ohio.

Memoryless Veteran To Face Legionnaires

Special to The Washington Post. Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—Who "Jerry Tarbot?" The gassed, wounded and shell-shocked veteran who goes under that name will again try to establish his identity today. He will be placed on a platform and 10,000 American legionnaires will be asked to look him over and see if he is one of their war-time buddies.

Tarbot was given that name when he woke up in an insane asylum at Stockton, Calif., three years ago with his mind a blank. Since that time he had been trying in vain to establish his identity. The veterans' bureau, the Ed Cross and the American Legion have all tried to help him. It will be introduced to the assembly tomorrow by Watson Miller, of Washington, D. C.

19 INDICTED AS MEMBERS OF $2,000,000 RUM RING

Two Chicago Clubmen on List of Defendants Following $1,200,000 Seizure.

JURY CALLS ON GOVERNOR

New York, Oct. 13. (By A. P.). Nineteen men have been indicted in Federal court as members of a rum smuggling ring, rivaling that headed by William V. Dwyer, now under sentence to serve a term in Atlanta penitentiary.

Two men from Chicago, described as prominent clubmen, a third from New Jersey and a fourth from Rhode Island, were among those indicted. Simultaneous with the making public of the indictments today, it was learned that a sealed presentment, returned by the same jury, had been forwarded to Gov. Moore, of New Jersey. It is alleged that part of a liquor cargo valued at $2,000,000 was unloaded at Edgewater.

The indictments, charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition act, grew out of the capture in the Hudson river last April of the steamship Eker, aboard which prohibition agents found the biggest cargo of liquor ever seized at this port. The liquor found aboard the ship was valued at $1,200,000.

The Chicago men indicted were Cecil Kinder and Clifford Kinder, who, together with a third man indicted, D. Turner, were represented as chief owners of the Eker. Another indicted was Eustis R. Smith, owner of the Edgewater, N. J., repair yard, where the Eker is alleged to have unloaded some of its cargo. A man described only as "Red" Reynolds, of Providence, R. I., represented as the man who made shipping arrangements for the Kinderes, was the fourth man indicted.

Film Magazine Head Seeks Mexican Decree

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13 (A. P.). Eugene V. Brewster, millionaire motion picture magazine publisher, today admitted that he will attempt to secure a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Brewster, in the state of Sinaloa, Mexico. Brewster said that he and his fiancée, Corliss Palmer, beauty contest winner, and a woman companion, have just returned from a trip to Sinaloa, where, he revealed, he has established residence.

The publisher declared he is confident that his divorce will be granted and that it will be recognized in any State but New York. Brewster said he and Miss Palmer will be married immediately after the divorce is granted.

Platform Plank Would Resubmit 18th Amendment to Vote of People.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the people, was favored in a plank incorporated by the Republican party of Rhode Island in the platform adopted at the biennial convention here today.

The plank placed the party on record as favoring strict enforcement of the prohibition law until a settlement of the question is reached. The platform reaffirmed the party's stand in favor of a protective tariff, condemned free trade and reaffirmed the party's support of the Coolidge administration.

Gov. Aram J. Pothier was nominated for governor by the party for the sixth time.

MANY GOOD-SIZED GAINS ARE SCORED BY STOCKS

Leaders Move Up Sharply Under Short Covering; Timken at New High.

NORWEGIAN KRONER SOAR

Special To The Washington Post.

New York, Oct. 13.—The stock list offered good resistance to selling and numerous substantial gains were registered in the New York Stock Exchange today. The market's behavior indicated that, temporarily at least, an end of a week of almost unbroken recession had been reached.

Transactions totaled but 1,362,700 shares, a drop of nearly 750,000 shares from the preceding session, but a few individual shares fairly leaped forward while many of the standard issues made moderate gains for the day. There seemed to be little forced liquidation and short covers found that offerings at current levels were rather scarce.

The upward spurts were sufficiently reminiscent of the spot market in comparative unimportance of the recent slump to add to the nervousness of the present short interest. Although it is not yet clear that a broad movement is not following in the footsteps of such volatile individuals, it is a fact that nearly every important advance or reaction recently has followed such isolated dashes.

Prognosticators were numerous to proclaim that the two or three stocks which jumped sensationally today were straws indicating that the wind was beginning to blow the market upward. It was not immediately plausibly asserted, on the other hand, that the failure of today's advances to attract a following of any size indicated that no important movement forward could be expected in the near future. At no period today was there any marked activity.

Most of the short covering came at the opening when such leaders as Allied Chemical, United States Steel common, General Motors and Du Pont moved from 2 to 5 points or more Monday's close. Immediately following came a flurry of selling which almost wiped out the initial gains. It was not until the market opened at a point of brief and prices quickly snapped back to the early high levels, and, although thereafter the turnover was small and there were few fluctuations of importance, the market continued firm to the close.

The few really energetic issues included Timken Roller Bearing, which, on sudden large demand, shot up to a new high for the year and closed just above the 40 point mark. The New York Central railroad had ordered the use of this company's bearings on its equipment, and Colorado and Southern railroad, which was boosted more than 13 points on a comparatively small turnover, held 11 1/2 points of its advance.

All the rails were finding good support, with Nickel Plate, C. & O., Atchafalaya and Western Union Steel common, General Motors and Du Pont moved from 2 to 5 points or more Monday's close. Woolworth, which opened strong, sold off on announcement of the $1 extra dividend, but soon recovered part of its drop, closing but a point lower. Case Thresher was a strong spot, gaining 5 points on the day and touching 170, a new top for the year. Other features of strength included Western Union, S. Hoffman, National Tea, Remington Typewriter, Pullman and Baldwin Locomotive. A weak spot was Electric Refrigerator, closing 3 1/2 down.

Call money, renewing at 5 percent, was not in large supply and banks' calling $20,000,000 in preparation for October 15 settlements resulted in a 1 1/2 percent lending rate early in the trading day. The most sensational development in the foreign exchange market so far this year occurred this morning, when Norwegian kroner opened more than 100 points, or more than a cent, over Monday's closing quotations. The Norwegian unit subsequently continued its advance until it was quoted at 23 3/8 cents, or 14 1/2 points above the close on Monday. Then there was a reaction of 20 points.

The advance was plainly an attempt on the part of the Central Bank of Norway to force the operation of pushing the kroner to parity, 26 cents, interrupted some months ago when speculation became so intense that the market for the white metal rose to a point above the bank. Danish kroner gained 5 points and the Swedish 1 point on the day, but French francs yielded 2 1/2 and lire nearly 8 and pesetas 6 points.

Alex Advises Against Own Example

Always Drank, Does Not Recommend It, Series Hero Says.

Newspapers Unfair to Him About Liquor, He Declares.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 13.—The shuffling, shuffling gait of Grover Cleveland Alexander on the diamond is his gift off the field of play. Unpretentious and sincere he travels in his own style. He is as plain as the old glove he wears on the ball lot. It is this latest of baseball's sudden heroes. Success and obscurity are all one with him. "It is great to be a champion, but it's hell, too," he said the other day as the hordes of enthusiastic St. Louis fans crowded around him. People wanted him to appear at various dinners and luncheons. Others wanted to sign him for exhibition games and theatrical agents brought offers from Omaha and other Western cities near the little Nebraska town, where Alex was born and where his mother still lives. He waved none of them away, but listened carefully to each man's story and gave definite answers.

He could or could not go; that was all, but he was short with nobody. He went to dozens of functions while the hysteria over the Cardinals' victory was at its height here. People everywhere invited him to take a drink—St. Louis folk are hospitable.

Alexander thinks the boys on the papers have been a little less than fair to him about this liquor matter, though he is not kicking.

"Sure, I always drank," he admitted today, "but not as much as they say. I don't claim it has done me any good and I don't believe it has done me any harm. I will say that I don't think I would have done any more in baseball if I had never taken a drink."

"You know, a baseball season is long and you can't keep in strict training all the time, but I would not recommend my way to anybody else."

The Eastern Preps basketball squad will meet tonight at the home of Wilson Zambreny, 450 Tenth street southeast. Players are asked to be present.

Sharkey on Tunney's Trail To Fulfill Former Contract

Jack to Set About to Make Himself Objectionable, Says Pegler—Pair Were to Have Met Last Winter.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Joseph Paul Cukoschay, the young Lithuanian prize fighter who exposed the fraud that Harry Wills had maintained for years, will now set about making himself objectionable to Gene Tunney, reminding Mr. Tunney of a date that Tunney failed to fulfill one night last winter and twitting Tunney about his own bashfulness when invited to fight Wills.

Translated into English, the name of Joseph Paul Cukoschay becomes Jack Sharkey, and when arrayed in fighting trunks with a red mitt on each fist he becomes a troublesome jumble of arms, elbows and slaps that come out of nowhere and hit people on the chin. He is very slippery and the fact that Harry Wills was much stronger and could easily lift him about did not deter him from swatting Wills on the chin with frequency and unexpectedness.

There was some question about his willingness or ability to accumulate punishment and keep on fighting, but after he had dangled his chin needlessly in front of Wills and had accepted a straight right flush on the point thereof, it became evident that he was both willing and able to take the sort of medicine that he deals in.

It was in the twelfth round of his exposure of the Harry Wills myth at Ebbetts field that Joseph Paul became boastful and stuck out his chin inviting Wills to chase him where the whiskers vegetate.

Wills accepted the opportunity and the same sort of straight right that took Luis Angel Firpo on the jaw and flopped him on his heels, shot over to Joseph Paul Cukoschay's chin.

Mr. John Buckley, the manager of Joseph Paul, was very uncomfortable when this happened and he spoke excitedly to his prize-fighter through the ropes, requesting him not to be a certain type of fool just to show that he could take a punch.

But as Mr. Buckley spoke, Joseph Paul jumped in with an upward leap as though he had taken

G. W. Defeats American, 28 to 7

Hatchets Outclass Foe; Sapp Stars in Victory.

Sawyer Intercepts a Pass, Runs 40 Yards for Touchdown.

GEORGE WASHINGTON university's football team easily trounced the American university eleven yesterday afternoon on Potomac park field by a 28-7 score.

In the early minutes of the opening quarter the Hatchets eleven advanced to American university's 6-yard line by the repeated charges of Sapp, but the American U. line at this stage of the game held and George Washington was forced to relinquish the ball. American university then kicked, but the ball was recovered by the Hatchettes and after a few line plunges, Sapp went over for the first touchdown from the 6-yard line. Sapp, early in the second quarter, dove across American university's line for his second touchdown. Lyons added the extra point after both touchdowns.

Sawyer produced American university's only tally when in the second quarter and near the close of the period, he intercepted a pass from Sapp and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Schloss booted the ball over the bar for the extra point.

Coleman and Stehman advanced the ball to American's 5-yard line in the third quarter, where Stehman romped over for George Washington's third touchdown. In this quarter Stehman tore off a long run and later his toe sent the ball over between the posts for the added point.

Coleman carried the oval over in the final quarter for George Washington, but fumbled. Wisner, a teammate, pounced on the ball saving the play for his team. Stehman collected the goal.

Mother of Thevenow Courts Sweet Tooth

Madison, Ind., Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—Down here in lower Indiana "Ma" Thevenow today got down a jar of apple butter. Her son, Tommy, 23-year-old Cardinal hero of the Yankees' late upsetting, is coming home. Madisonians are preparing a great ovation. Manager Hornsby told the scribes to watch him, but he set them all agog when he hit .417 in the series, took a home run and a two-bagger, scored 5 runs, made 10 putouts, had 27 assists, 2 errors and a field average of .947.

Georgetown Drilling in Secret for Game Saturday.

NOT since the annual game with University of Virginia was discontinued has a Georgetown university football team been more secretive in its practice than Coach Lou Little and his husky Hilltoppers have been this week and, undoubtedly, will be until West Virginia is met at American league park on Saturday.

All persons except Georgetown students and the faculty have been barred from the field and its vicinity while these final drills are in progress. That a team of scrubs, well drilled in the famous West Virginia shift, has been scrimmaging opposite the varsity eleven, is the only news which has leaked through the barrier set up by Coach Little and Father McDonough, the athletic director.

Whether or not there are scrubs masquerading as "Sleepy" Glenn and Glenn Hamilton, West Virginia's pair of all-American nominees can not be learned, but this pair is causing Coach Little much concern or local collegiate circles are missing a guess.

A defense can sometimes be perfected against a single triple threat, but West Virginia's twin "Jacks of the gridiron trades" have had two opponents of the Mountaineers, thus far, guessing.

Allegedly could not stop either Glenn or Hamilton and took a 54-0 beating. Washington and Lee, the team that tied Princeton, halted either one or the other at times, but never succeeded in eliminating both and felt lucky to get off on the short end of an 18-0 count.

Just how large a task confronts Georgetown Saturday can best be gathered from the fact that West

Jack Sharkey, Boston's adopted Lithuanian youth of 24 years, has forced himself into the front rank of challengers by his decisive defeat of Harry Wills, who had been looked upon as the foremost of Dempsey's rivals, even more dangerous than Tunney before the fight at the Sesqui-centennial.

Jack Delaney, the Bridgeport stylist and holder of the light heavyweight title, which he lifted from Paul Berlenbach, has already launched a campaign that he expects will force the issue with Tunney. Delaney's chief drawback is his size. Should he ever meet Tunney he would be at every possible physical disadvantage.

The Wills' fight brought out that Sharkey is to be reckoned with in any matchmaking with Tunney. The Boston youth is the nearest counter part of the fighting marine among his challengers. Sharkey from the first has been a defensive fighter. He is not credited with a knockout punch, but in his clumsy, weaving way he is reminiscent of Dempsey, and hits with great effect from a crouching position.

Should Tunney and Sharkey ever meet it would present a puzzling encounter. Defensive fighters have had marked success in ending the reign of mauling champions, a la Corbett and Tunney. What would happen should the two prime defensive fighters meet for the title is to be seen.

COLLINS WITH PALACE. "Joe" Collins, who was considered a sure tckler when he played with the old Southern A. C., has decided to play this season and will hold down one of the end positions for the Palace A. C.

Junior League Votes Diploma Almost Unanimously.

He Broke Record for Doubles; Most Is Second Choice

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—George H. Burns, first baseman on the Cleveland baseball team of the American league, was designated today as the most valuable player in his league during 1926.

A veteran of thirteen years of service in major league baseball Burns was practically the unanimous choice of the committee of eight baseball writers who made the award. He obtained 63 points in the balloting out of a possible 64 for inclusion on the American league honor roll where stand already the names of Cobb, Speaker, Collins, Slater, Ruth, Johnson and Peckinpaugh.

Second, but with scarcely half as many votes as Burns, the award committee placed Johnny Mostil, center fielder of the Chicago White Sox with 33 votes, while only one vote behind him ranked Herb Pennock, pitcher for the New York Yankees.

Burns capped his brilliant 1926 performance, with a major league record for two-base hits, knocking out 64 to break the mark formerly held by Tris Speaker, his team's manager.

He batted .358 in 151 games, and had three triples and four home runs among 216 hits for a total of 229 bases. He batted in 114 runs, ranking second to Ruth; took part in 122 double plays, and had 1,499 putouts, 89 assists, and but 19 errors. He scored 97 runs himself.

The Cleveland first sacker broke into the American league with Detroit in 1913, served two years with Philadelphia and went to Cleveland, which sent him to Boston but got him back in 1924. For six years he has battled well over

Above the cork layer lies the famous Cushion of live, long-fibered lambs' wool, restful and yielding as a silky soft Turkish rug. GOLDEN PRINCE PAYS $386.30 AT LAUREL

Rank Outsider Wins Third By Neck

Golden Prince Pays $386.30 Mutuel in Big Upset.

Sweet Inver Repeats by Victory Over a Cheap Field.

Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL RACE TRACK, Oct. 13.—Stirring contests were in order at Laurel this afternoon and the finishes found a majority of the winners unstraining drives to beat their fields by small margins. This was particularly so in the fourth race when Carom came from behind to get up in the final strides to beat John Johnson Jr., out by a nose. In the third race less than a length separated the first five horses and the winner was Golden Prince. The latter was one of the outsiders and he paid his backers the handsome dividend of $386.30 straight, $106.10 a place and $60.80 to show.

The Fairfax purse, a dash of 1 mile for 2-year-olds, was provided as an attraction and the Fox Catcher arms furnished the winner in Fair Star, ridden by the diminutive Bourassa. Fair Star beat his field away from the barrier to a moving start and was never headed. He raced in hand to the top of the home stretch, where he bore out a bit but in the final furlong shook off opposition and drew away into a two-length lead. Buddy Bauer was second, a length in front of the favorite, Bostonian. Then followed Friedhof Nansen another half-length away. The winner ran the mile in 1:39 5/8.

Printers of the cheaper grade paraded for the three quarters of the initial event, and Sweet Inver, racing back to her creditable effort of a few days back, made her score a double one for the meeting when she came from behind the pace, set by Masotta and Alley Corp., to get up in the final sixteenth to get the decision by a head.

MASOTTA, after racing in the van of her opposition for the biggest part of the trip, raced to the place, beaten right in the face of victory, while Alley Corp. held on well, and was third by a length and one-half.

The second event, a split of the first, resulted in a spirited contest, and was accounted for by G. B. Foley's Aversion, who led her field a merry clip throughout the 6-furlong dash to last long enough to get the call by a half-length margin over Corinth, with Maxiva garnering the minor end of the spoils.

Aversion, possessing keen speed, dashed into the lead shortly after the release of the webbing, raced her early rivals into submission, and showed her gameness by withstanding a drive in good manner to get the decision. Corinth came with a belated rush through the final stages of the contest, and was a fast-going second, while Maxiva had no trouble in staying off Carrefour, who was accorded much support, but faded as if short.

Golden Prince, racing for Walter J. Salmon, entered the hall of long-jumped winners, when he established a record price at Laurel in accounting for the third event, a 6-furlong sprint, conditioned for colts and geldings.

FOR this number Belgen-laden came in for the big-gest share of support and he went to the post favorite and flattered his backers by going into a brief lead shortly after the break and showed the way until well inside the furlong pole, where he showed signs of distress and subsequently was

WESTERN AND BUSINESS OPEN SERIES TOMORROW

Stenogs Seen As Strong Eleven

Coach Ahearn Bemoans Lack of Regulars Across Creek.

Reporter Weeps at Tale of Woe by Western Tutor.

By WALTER HAIGHT.
 WITH business and Western due to open the public high school football series tomorrow, the high school reporter yesterday made his first annual tour of the offices of the various coaches, on the suggestion of his majesty the sporting editor.
 And knowing, by past association, the ways of the high school coach when a bound of the press lurks near, the h. s. reporter stuffed his pockets with handkerchiefs before grabbing a drive-it-yourself-car for the sad journey.
 Western was first visited. Coach Ahearn was there (after reporter).
 "Really, I don't think you fellows have been exactly right on doping Western one of the favorites in the series," was Ahearn's opener and one handkerchief was gone.

"LOOK at this list of players and show me all those veterans I'm supposed to have. Where's Mitchell, Heaugh, Haggard, Green, David, McDermid and Palmer? Yes, and 'Peewee' Walker on the shelf," he continued, amid the sniffs of the h. s. reporter. "My backs average only 150 pounds and are green as grass."

So the h. s. reporter grabbed the list, hung his head, called it a visit and made his weary way toward Business High.

Coach Collins' office floor was open. Two athletes, or wearers of the "B," were singing "Where'd You Get Those Eyes?"

Coach would be in a minute. He arrived but smiling, yes smiling. Here was absolute proof that a high school coach smiles.

"Hell! change in a minute," thought the h. s. reporter, and went out loud. "Well, how's that Business team coming?"

"Fine! We have everything that could be desired. My line is heavy and my backs are big and fast. All my injured players have come around and everything points to a big year in football for Business," returned Collins.

Mr. Collins is really the coach, but you can't prove it by the h. s. reporter after that speech.

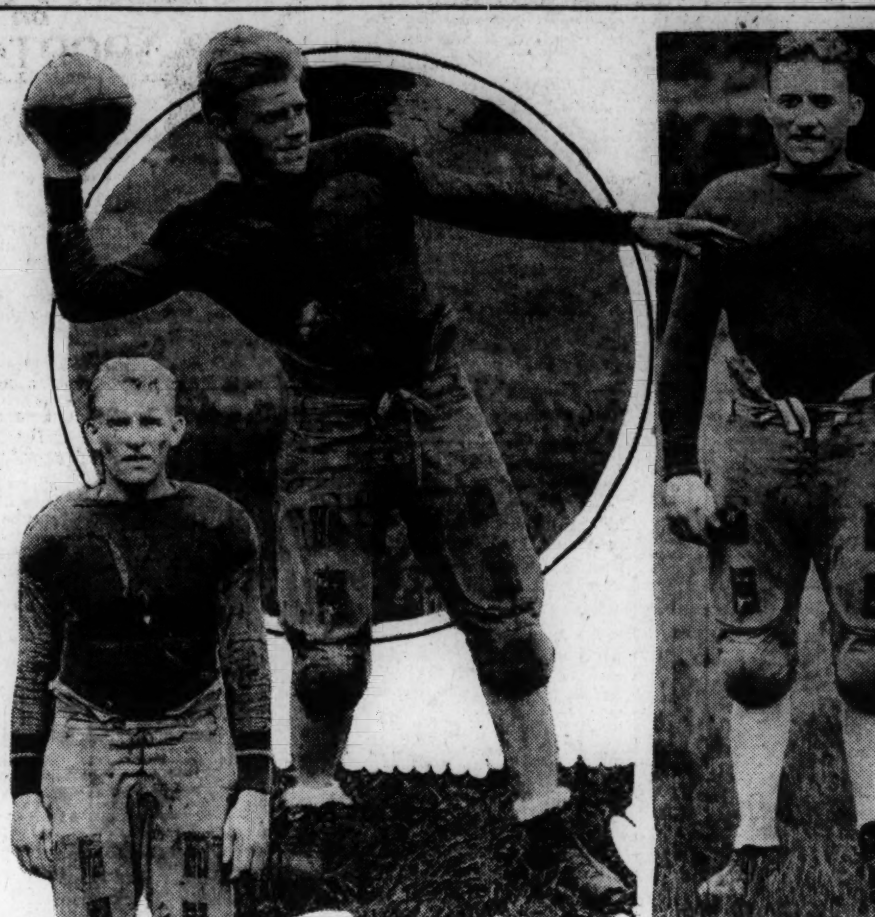

Elliott A. C. Court Team Again Prepares

The Elliott A. C. basketball team will enter the 140-pound class this year and has already been drilling. Another practice has been called for Sunday on the Pierce school out-door court. The following veterans are on hand: Underwood, Levy, Ward, Chapple, Leon, Wright, America, Lucas and Gwyn. For practice games call Lincoln 8657.

Cards and Renroc Gridmen Play Sunday

The Cardinal football team will open its schedule Sunday in a game with the Renroc eleven. The Cards will practice Saturday on the Park View field at 7 o'clock in preparation for this battle. All players are urged to be present. Games may be arranged with the team by telephoning Adams 3489.

WEST VIRGINIA'S THREATS TO GEORGETOWN

Among the powerful array of football players West Virginia university is sending against Georgetown here Saturday are the three pictured above. Albert "Sleepy" Glen, lower, is the Mountaineers' great triple-threat halfback, a man to be feared by any team. His running mate is Mike Brady, fullback, upper left. Capt. McHenry, upper right, is West Virginia's mainstay in the line.

STARS TO ACT AS SKATING JUDGES

Walter Johnson and Plansky to Be at Finals Saturday.

THE finals of The Washington Post roller skate tournament will be held Saturday at 10:15 a. m. The races will be run off at the parade grounds of the Washington barracks.

Capt. John R. D. Cleland, athletic officer of the Washington barracks, has promised to give the boys and girls next Saturday some novel treats besides the roller skate tournament. An announcement will be made through the columns of this paper Friday telling of what is in store for the public.

Walter Johnson, Washington's famous pitching ace, in company with Tony Plansky, Georgetown university's famous athlete and holder of the decaathlon championship of the United States, will act in capacity of judge in the roller skate meet. The Radio Corporation of America will broadcast complete details of the races.

Representatives of The Post called on the elimination winners yesterday and were informed by the boys that they anticipate a great number of rooters from the schools to attend the roller skate finals as boys. Many have stated that their mothers and fathers will attend.

Every one in Washington is issued a cordial invitation by this newspaper to attend this meet.

A STRANGLE hold on the back of your midriff is no longer required in a jump according to the new Basketball Guide which has just been published by the national committee on women's athletics.

The change will be welcomed by everyone who ever tried to jump for a ball with their arm cramped behind them. The idea of the old regulation was of course to eliminate the chance of one player pushing the other when the referee's eyes were following the ball. The same precaution will be taken this year for the umpire now watches the free arm of players during a toss.

The new rule reads: "The hand need not remain behind the back when jumping, providing there is no personal contact with opponent."

MAY ENTER W. R. L. LEAGUE.

Officials of the D. C. Basketball League and the Washington Recreation League met last night to discuss the possibility of placing the three D. C. league members in the W. R. L. circuit.

Washington, Princeton, and Capital Athletic clubs, which compose the new organization, decided at a recent meeting that they would apply for membership in the Recreation league if the by-laws of the organization could be revamped to meet their needs. In the event that these three clubs do affiliate themselves with the league the W. R. L. will include every independent basketball group playing in the District.

Mrs. H. R. Scudder, president of the league told the meeting that their suggestion for changes in the by-laws would be taken under advisement by the board of directors in the near future.

BOND LIST, AS A WHOLE, SHOWS SLIGHT CHANGE

Number of Popular Issues Advance, but Trading Is Restricted.

FOREIGNS ARE IRREGULAR

New York, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Increased activity in the bond market today was accompanied by advancing prices for a number of popular issues, but the list as a whole was little changed. Trading was restricted somewhat by the stiffening of call money rates, but this failed to bring about any general selling.

Leading all other bonds in activity was the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway income 6s, which mounted nearly 2 points at one time on reports that they would soon be quoted on an "interest" rather than a "flat" basis in stock exchange dealings. Other rates were irregular, with some selling taking place in bonds of the Southern carriers, Northern Pacific 4 1/2s and Wheeling & Lake Erie 6s.

A rally followed in the 5-pointed in Granby Mining 7s was attributed to the better outlook for the copper industry as the result of the new marketing agreement concluded by the leading producers. Other copper issues, such as Anaconda 6s and 7s, Chile 6s and Andes 7s, were little affected.

Buying and selling activities in the foreign division were of a routine investment nature, with price changes limited to fractions. French and Belgian issues were firm, but Danish Mortgage Bank bonds were higher, but the government's obligations showed no reflection of the forthcoming sale of a new $42,000,000 loan.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 13 (By A. P.).—The steady decline which developed in the cotton market after the break to 13.55 for December contracts last week, was in evidence again today. After selling up to 13.55 or 24 points, the market broke to 13.32 in late trading under renewed hedging, however, and the market was again at the close, prices showing net advances of 11 to 14 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 3 points. Prices eased off a few points under overdone selling. The South and Louisiana by recent buyers took advantage of the market, prices showing net advances of 11 to 14 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 3 points. Prices eased off a few points under overdone selling. The South and Louisiana by recent buyers took advantage of the market, prices showing net advances of 11 to 14 points.

The early offerings from the South were smaller than previously, and when they had been sold, there did not appear to be much pressure against prices. This made the market more sensitive to buying orders. A good deal of buying was reported during the day, and the market was held at a level of 13.32 to 13.35, with a net advance of 11 to 14 points.

The first report of the government's cotton commission, emphasizing the opportunity of the spinner to help himself and the producer by freely appearing to have a stabilizing influence during the early trading. There was much talk of Southern holding movement, which was colored by the comparatively small volume of cotton being sold. A good deal of trade buying was reported during the day, and the market was held at a level of 13.32 to 13.35, with a net advance of 11 to 14 points.

Private cables said trade calling had absorbed hedging and continental liquidation in the Liverpool market. Exports today, 17,510, making 1,661,757 so far for the month. Receipts, 5,603, United States port receipts, 1,517,001.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Despite enlarged export business wheat and soya beans were selling in price. Ocean freight rates were high, and so the market was held at a level of 13.32 to 13.35, with a net advance of 11 to 14 points.

Notwithstanding assertions in some quarters that today's export business from North America was the biggest done for months, the wheat market was depressed from the opening until the finish. Such calls as took place were for the most part due to collecting of profits on the part of previous sellers. Meanwhile, the advance in price was held at a level of 13.32 to 13.35, with a net advance of 11 to 14 points.

BOARD MAY RECEIVE PLANS TO BEAUTIFY WATER FRONT TODAY

Jadwin Probably Will Submit Proposals to the Capital Park Commission.

PIER AND SLIP SYSTEM PROVIDED FOR IN DRAFT

Boulevard Features Would Give Space for Street Cars and Traffic.

Plans for beautification of Washington's water front, including a system of piers, a broad boulevard that will be beautiful as well as useful, and adequate facilities for visiting yachts, are ready for submission to Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, who, as chairman of the National Capital park and planning commission, probably will submit them to that body for approval when it meets tomorrow.

The plans prepared by the United States engineer's office were completed under congressional act directing steps toward preparation of adequate terminal, railway and highway facilities in the waterfront area, together with coordination of its commercial features as well as its beautification.

While details are not made public pending consideration by the National Capital park and planning commission, it was learned yesterday that they provide for a pier and slip system of arrangement for vessels, instead of a straight quay.

A series of piers with head-houses and transit sheds has been proposed, and construction of the buildings would conform to the architectural and landscape features of the surrounding area, which include the fish market and the Washington barracks buildings. The buildings will be of a conventional colonial type of architecture.

Space for Light Traffic.

The boulevard features of the plan, it was learned, will include spaces for street car, truck and light traffic, divided by parkways. Arrangements for its future widening in a very economical way are provided and are calculated to arrange for fullest service for the entire section. The engineer's office considered initial needs of the section and has made arrangements for development of the boulevard, which will traverse the section between the north and south terminals of Water street, when traffic grows heavier.

Following the example of other cities, adequate spaces will be provided along the waterfront for visiting and local yachts, due to the increase in this sport and the increasing number of yachting parties visiting Washington. A basin similar to that of the Corinthian yacht club will be built for the convenience of local yachts and there will be slips and walkways for visiting craft.

The plans are a report of the United States engineer's office were prepared after full consultation with District officials and those of various commercial and civic organizations. The cost of the cost has not been completed.

Following its meeting tomorrow, members of the park and planning commission and the commission will make an inspection trip to Wakefield and Mount Vernon in connection with development plans for that vicinity.

$7 Furniture Saving Protested by Andrews

Brig. Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the dry forces, feels that a matter of only $7, for economy's sake, is insufficient reason to change the style and quality of furniture hereafter supplied to the offices of cabinet members and their assistants.

After making requisition for supplies to furnish his new office in the Treasury, the Assistant Secretary was informed that economy forbade further use of mahogany furniture. Hearing the difference in price between the furniture requested and that to be supplied amounted to just $7, Andrews registered an appeal with Director Lord of the budget bureau.

Mrs. Suder Wins Decree.

Mrs. Theodora Suder was awarded a final decree for absolute divorce yesterday by Justice Stafford in equity court against Harry E. Suder. The plaintiff was married December 5, 1914. Attorney Lowry N. Coe appeared for her.

$478,217 Gasoline Tax Paid in District

Taxes on gasoline used in motor vehicles throughout the nation amounted to $84,939,373 in the first six months of 1926, according to the bureau of public roads of the Department of Agriculture. District motorists paid $478,217 of the total tax.

A total of 3,560,987,586 gallons of gasoline was taxed and it is estimated that an additional 856,450,000 gallons were consumed in the four States in which the gasoline tax is not collected. The funds collected from the tax were made available as follows: $54,981,677 to State highway departments; $19,338,976 for county and country roads; $6,329,413 for State and county road bonds, and $4,140,998 for miscellaneous purposes.

COOPERATION ABROAD IS LAID TO ROTARIANS

Club Builds Good Feeling Toward Americans, Judge Lobingier Says.

USING METHOD IN CUBA

"The building up of cooperation and friendly feeling between Americans and natives in foreign countries is the work of the Rotarians," Judge Charles Lobingier, of the United States foreign judicial service, declared in a speech on the international aspect of Rotarianism before the weekly meeting of the Rotary club yesterday in the Willard hotel.

The spirit of fraternalism is the solution to the differences between the Americans and natives in the Philippines, China, Cuba and other countries, Judge Lobingier said. The industrial phase of the Philippines is the great problem which confronts us, not the political phase, he continued.

With the Philippines and their potentialities, the United States will be independent, he said, while without them this country is dependent upon other countries. The reconciliation of the natives can be effected by Rotarianism.

"The cause of the recent disturbances in China is the lack of cooperation among the natives. In some instances the foreigners do not fraternize. In Cuba," the judge said, "Americans are utilizing Rotary as one of the agencies to promote friendly relationship between Cubans and Americans."

A committee for the interclub dinner, to be held soon, was appointed. Albert Mears, Roland Whitehurst and William E. Russell comprise the committee.

COURT HERE IN RACE WITH PARIS TRIBUNAL

Mrs. J. G. Burnap Asks Speed in Divorce Case Alleging Husband Sued Abroad.

Mrs. Jeanette Gallinger Burnap, widow of a son of the late Senator Gallinger, now the wife of George Burnap, well known landscape architect and city planner, who sued him for maintenance on July 2 last, filed a motion in equity court yesterday, which, if granted, will mean that the local courts will unwittingly run a race with the divorce courts of Paris, France.

Mrs. Burnap, through Attorneys Wampler and Lynch, asked the court in her motion to advance her case for trial as it would be embarrassing to her to have her husband's Paris divorce, which she says was filed last month, heard and adjudicated before the local court passes upon her demand for maintenance. The application for the Paris divorce is based upon alleged desertion, Mrs. Burnap says.

The records here show that Burnap submitted to the jurisdiction of the court by posting a $3,000 bond to respond at the call of the court. If he had not done that, the writ holding him in the District would still have legal force and effect. The local court will be asked tomorrow to advance the case for an early hearing.

Motorist Is Held In Woman's Death

Charles G. Chappell, of Virginia Highlands, Va., is being held for action of the grand jury at the District jail, on a charge of manslaughter, as the result of an inquest yesterday in the death of Miss Ella Clark, 58 years old, a charwoman, of 1649 Rosedale street northeast. The jury found that Miss Clark died from injuries received Tuesday when she was struck by a truck driven by Chappell, at Thirteenth and G streets northwest. She was rushed to Emergency hospital, but died shortly after the accident, of a fractured skull and shock.

JUDGE SCHULTZ OFFERS $25 FOR SAFETY ESSAYS

Money to Be Divided Into Two Prizes for Schools' Contest.

ALL IN GRADES ELIGIBLE

Twenty-five dollars was offered yesterday by Police Court Judge Gas A. Schultz, to be awarded among the winners of the essay contest to be conducted by public school officials in the interest of safety. Half of the money is to be awarded to the pupil writing the best essay coming from the seventh and eighth grades, and the other half is to be awarded for the best composition in the six low grades.

A slogan on street and highway safety for the District of Columbia is to be the subject, according to rules governing the contest announced yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank W. Ballou. The length of the essays written by pupils in the seventh and eighth grades is about 150 words, while those in the lower grades are required to write an essay containing about 100 words.

All pupils in the eighth grades of the local public schools are eligible for the contest. The essays are to be written in the classrooms, October 22, after several days' oral discussion on safety subjects. Each teacher will submit the three best papers to Ben W. Murch, chairman of the safety committee.

Miss Sarah Simons and Miss Mary Lackey have been appointed judges for the seventh and eighth grades and for the first six grades, respectively.

Forestry Bureau Aid Seen in Alaskan Work

As a result of the good work of the naval Alaskan aerial survey expedition last summer, it is expected that the bureau of forestry will make a recommendation to divert approximately $10,000 of its appropriation for the completion of the survey and that the Interior Department will give a similar amount.

Lieut. E. H. Wyatt, U. S. N., commanding officer of the survey, reports an extremely successful summer and says that if the expedition goes North next spring the work can be completed easily during the summer. All equipment is in excellent condition and very little overhauling will be necessary on the planes and the barge carrying the expedition's equipment.

Ships Receiving Radio Compass Aid Increase

An increase of 16 per cent in ships served with radio compass bearings during the three months ending September 30 over the preceding quarter was reported by the communications division of the Navy Department yesterday. The increase was due largely to a wider use by merchant vessels.

An increase of approximately 17 per cent in the number of hearings likewise is reported. A total of 60,895 hearings was given during the past quarter, in comparison with 51,748 in the preceding one. There were 27,385 ships served during the quarter ended September 30, as compared with 23,444 in the preceding quarter.

Gilmore to Command Air Materiel Center

The War Department has approved establishment at McCook field, Dayton, Ohio, of a materiel division center of the air corps under command of Brig. Gen. William E. Gilmore, it was announced yesterday following word of the transfer of Maj. Gen. Gilmore to McCook field.

Brig. Gen. Gilmore, who, since the world war, has been chief of the supply division in the office of the chief of the air corps in this city, will establish headquarters temporarily at McCook field, and completion of facilities at Wright field, near Dayton, will move to that station.

The board of trustees of a maternity hospital in Steubenville is given $25,000 as a memorial to Mrs. Emily H. McConville, deceased wife of the testator. Kramer Church at Steubenville is given $3,000. As a memorial to his wife, the testator also directs the executors to pay over to certain pastors in Steubenville the income on $20,000. The sons, Arthur and Paul, are to have one-third of the proceeds of the sale of real estate and the two children of Donald are to have one-sixth each of the proceeds.
